Lufthansa planning to cut thousands of jobs

German flag carrier Lufthansa is planning to cut thousands of administrative staff as the airline seeks to reduce costs following a fall in earnings, sources said on Friday. The group's profits tumbled nearly a fifth in 2024 due to problems ranging from a string of walkouts to aircraft delivery delays. Sources confirmed to AFP that Lufthansa was planning to axe up to 20 per cent of its administrative staff.

Women Empowerment

5th Phase

The Uttar Pradesh government has taken several measures to bolster women empowerment which is a key step towards creating balance in society. The scenario has changed with the Yogi Adityanath government working in a planned and phased-manner to ensure women's empowerment through the effective implementation of various women-centric schemes and policies of the central government like PM SVANidhi Yojana, Beti Bachao-Beti Padhao and many more at the grassroots level in the state. The government has also taken constant measures to establish a secure environment for the women by implementing a powerful safety mechanism in the state. Right from enforcing strict law and order with zero tolerance against crime, celebrating the birth of girl child, vaccination, rewards and recognition of meritorious students, free education till graduation, mass marriage, health and hygiene, safety and security and promoting self-help groups (SHGs). These steps have undoubtedly given a 360-degree umbrella to half the population of the state. The results are promising with the women of the state now coming to the front and leading by example in various spheres of development.

India calls out NATO chief's lie on oil diplomacy

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday strongly rejected remarks made by NATO Secretary-General Mark Rutte suggesting that Prime Minister Narendra Modi had urged Russian President Vladimir Putin to clarify his stance on Ukraine and termed the statement as "factually incorrect and entirely baseless."

Speaking to CNN, Rutte claimed that India had been in contact with Moscow and Prime Minister Modi had confronted Putin over the Ukraine war, linking it to economic fallout from US tariffs. In a sharply worded rebuttal, External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal dismissed the comments as false and irresponsible."We have seen the statement by NATO Secretary-General Mr Mark Rutte regarding a purported phone conversation between PM Modi and President Putin. The statement is baseless," said Jaiswal.

WANGCHUK HELD UNDER NSA, FLOWN TO JODHPUR

Union home ministry says he 'incited' mob that went on rampage

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SIX years after praising Prime Minister Narendra Modi for granting Union Territory status to Ladakh, Magsaysay awardee climate activist Sonam Wangchuk, 59, was arrested on Friday and booked under the stringent National Security Act (NSA) for allegedly 'instigating and inciting violence and unrest in Leh through provocative statements'.

His arrest comes two days after violent protests in Leh over demands for statehood and 6th Schedule status left four people dead and 80 injured on Wednesday. The protests erupted after two participants in Wangchuk's 35-day hunger strike fell ill and were hospitalized, following which agitating youth set fire to offices of BJP, Leh Hill Council, police and CRPF vehicles apart from damaging public property.

Sonam Wangchuk

'A WITCH-HUNT'

Opposition parties, including the Congress and Trinamool, said the move "exposes the government's witch-hunting agenda" and failure of law and order in Ladakh

Sources said Wangchuk, who had called off his hunger strike on Wednesday after the violence, was taken into custody by police from his residence in the afternoon. An FIR against Wangchuck has been filed under Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) and the NSA in connection with incidents of rioting and arson on Wednesday.

Under the NSA, a person can be detained for 12 months without a trial. Wangchuk, according to sources, has been moved out from Ladakh and shifted to Jodhpur.

The Ministry of Home Affairs blamed Wangchuk's speeches for instigating unrest in the region. "It is clear that the mob was incited by Sonam Wangchuk through his provocative statements," MHA said in a statement.

The MHA alleged that Wangchuk's references to the Arab Spring and Nepal's Gen Z protests stirred mob fury that resulted in the local BJP office in Leh and a few government vehicles being torched.

SHARIF'S UNGA ADDRESS

Pak PM's 'sincere' talks offer to India

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

IN his speech at the 80th session of the UN General Assembly, Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Friday extended what he called his "most sincere and serious" offer of a renewed diplomatic engagement with India, proposing a "composite, comprehensive and result-oriented dialogue" to resolve all outstanding issues even as he launched a sharp critique of New Delhi's stance on Kashmir.

Shehbaz Sharif

Sharif recalled the decades-old Composite Dialogue framework, originally initiated in 2003 under Gen Pervez Musharraf's military regime. The eight-point dialogue process, which covered contentious issues including Kashmir, trade and counter-terrorism, was suspended following the 2008 Mumbai terror attacks. Despite intermittent backchannel talks, formal negotiations have not resumed since.

"This is my most sincere and serious offer before this august assembly of world nations," Sharif declared. "Pakistan stands ready for a composite, comprehensive and result-oriented dialogue with India on all outstanding issues." However, the overture came alongside allegations. Sharif criticised India's policy in Kashmir, reiterating Islamabad's demand for an "impartial plebiscite" under UN auspices. He asserted that Pakistan would continue to support the Kashmiri people in their quest for what he described as the "fundamental right to self-determination".

New ration cards from Oct, says minister

UDUPI: Minister for Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs KH Muniyappa on Friday said people can start applying for ration cards from October. He said revision of BPL cards will be completed by then. During a recent survey, 7.70 lakh ration cards were identified as ineligible. These 7.70 lakh ration card holders will be shifted from the BPL category to APL. "Despite being developed, Karnataka has 1.28 crore BPL and Antyodaya card holders. Hence, the revision of BPL cards is on in the state," he said | P6

No deadline extension for caste survey, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday clarified that the State Government will not extend the October 7 deadline set for completing the ongoing Socio-Economic and Educational Survey, also known as the caste survey, and directed officials to speed up the process.

After holding a video-conference with deputy commissioners, he directed the officials to monitor the progress daily and accelerate it to meet the deadline. Technical glitches faced in the first four days of the survey have been resolved. Officials have been told to ensure daily progress of at least 10% to meet the target. It has been just around 3-4 % till now, he said.

District-in-charge ministers too have been directed to coordinate and supervise the survey that started on September 22. So far, 2.76 lakh families have been covered, and the enumerators have to cover over 2 crore households by October 7, he added.

CM Siddaramaiah and DCM DK Shivakumar attend a meeting on the caste survey in Bengaluru on Friday

"Every single family should be surveyed. We will follow all directions issued by the high court. The enumeration process should pick up pace in Bengaluru that has nearly 50 lakh households," he said. P6

Surya, Rauf fined; BCCI appeals against verdict

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

AHEAD of their first-ever Asia Cup final in 41 years of tournament history on Sunday, India's captain Suryakumar Yadav and Pakistan's pacer Haris Rauf have reportedly been fined 30% of their match fees by ICC match referee. Pakistan batter Sahibzada Farhan escaped with a warning for his gun-shot celebration after completing his fifty in the Super Fours match against India. It was also learnt that the Indian cricket board (BCCI) has appealed against the ICC's verdict.

While the global body didn't issue any statement, sources said Suryakumar attended the hearing on Thursday while the hearing for the Pakistan duo was conducted at the team hotel.

The Indian skipper dedicated his team's win over Pakistan on September 14 to the victims of the Pahalgam terror attack and the Indian armed forces. Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) had lodged a complaint against him for making a political statement. It was also learnt that Suryakumar has been asked not to make any statement that could be construed as political during the remainder of the tournament.

Meanwhile, Rauf was fined for allegedly engaging with the Indian fans during the Super Fours match on September 21. The pacer allegedly mimicked a jet going down. The BCCI had complained against the duo.

SL Bhyrappa cremated with state honours

LEGENDARY novelist and Padma Bhushan awardee Dr SL Bhyrappa was cremated with full state honours on Friday afternoon at the Rudrabhoomi crematorium, located at the foothills of Chamundi in Mysuru.

The final rites, steeped in Hoysala-Brahmin tradition, were performed at 12:30 pm by his sons Ravishankar and Uday Shankar, as family members, friends, political leaders, literary luminaries, and thousands of admirers gathered to bid a tearful farewell to one of the country's most celebrated writers. In accordance with his personal wish and a will, writer Sahana Vijaykumar, who had shared a close literary bond with the veteran author, was also present and joined the sons in lighting the pyre. P6

Youngsters hold big protest demanding jobs in Dharwad

MALLIKARJUN HIREMATH @ Dharwad

A large number of job aspirants, students and youth hit the streets of Dharwad on Thursday, demanding that the government fill up vacancies in its various departments and relax the age limit for applying to these posts. The angry crowd of youngsters tore the images of political representatives, including that of CM Siddaramaiah, DCM DK Shivakumar, Home Minister G Parameshwara and others, sending out a strong message that the government cannot ignore this youth movement.

The protest was led by the All-Karnataka State Students' Association and others. Arun B, a student from Harihar who has completed his BSc and who was taking part in the protest, said he is now 27 years old and has been attending coaching classes for the police sub-inspector recruitment exam for the last two years. But the government has not called for applications to fill up the posts. "By next year, I will cross the age limit. The government that had promised to relax the age bar for candidates, has kept quiet," he lamented.

FIXING ORR

GBA DASHBOARD TO TRACK 'OP POTHOLES'

Top officials urge parastatal agencies to ensure better coordination in resolving infrastructure logjams

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE administrative top brass in the state has held a brainstorming session with heads of parastatal agencies in a bid to ensure better coordination in resolving civic and infrastructure logjams plaguing Bengaluru, especially on Outer Ring Road (ORR).

Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh; Additional Chief Secretary (ACS), Urban Development Department (UDD), Tushar Girinath, and Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao set the agenda for the Bengaluru City Inter-Departmental Coordination Committee meeting held on September 24.

As there are challenges of increasing traffic congestion, potholes, garbage disposal problems, on ORR and in Bengaluru city, the Chief Secretary has suggested the Greater BMRCL, BMRCL, traffic police and BMTC work in a coordinated manner that will bring about visible changes in the city by March to achieve the goal of Mission, 'Free Traffic', 2026.

The top brass has told the parastatal agencies and private firms that quality monitoring of pothole closure will be conducted by third parties and completed by the end of October. Public Works Department will check the quality of pothole closure.

The meeting has decided to take action against contractors/engineers who perform poorly. The GBA Commissioner will create a live dashboard to track the condition of potholes. The GBA will take strict action against agencies digging roads without proper maintenance said a senior official who attended the meeting.

A large number of private stakeholders were invited to the meeting as they had offered free technical consultancy and support to the GBA. An Expert Committee has been constituted for the implementation of Outer Ring Road (ORR) Project. Chief Commissioner, GBA; BS Prahlad, Technical Director; RK Mishra, urban expert; and Naresh Narasimhan, architect, are part of the committee preparing the Detailed Project Report (DPR) for the Outer Ring Road, with joint site inspection and Directorate Of Urban Land Transport (DULT) study, including details on shifting of utilities, said an official who attended the meeting. The official added that ACS for UDD, UDD will submit a proposal to the Cabinet for inviting tenders by October 15. Private stakeholders suggested car pooling and FastTag systems to address the traffic situation. Their suggestions also included clearance of garbage heaps on outer ring roads, ensuring smooth flow of drainage water, fixing of potholes and free movement of vehicles by local commissioners.

Karthik Reddy, Joint Commissioner, Traffic, said that a total of 1,194 kms of city roads have been identified as no parking zones and commissioners will notify parking areas, identify alternative parking areas, and call tenders locally for its maintenance and bring revenue and discipline. The corporations will advise citizens to use government and private parking facilities available on weekdays and to provide parking passes at a monthly rate and promotion of public transport (One City-One Card). It has been also decided to conduct a study on improving first and last mile connectivity for Namma Metro.

Students protest outside minister's residence, demand guest faculty

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OVER 50 members of the Akhila Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP) staged a protest outside the residence of Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar, demanding the appointment of guest faculty. The protesters squatted outside the house, while one of them taught a lesson to others to draw the attention of the minister towards the lack of guest faculty.

Preventive custody

Later, the students attempted to lay siege to the minister's residence. The jurisdictional Sanjay Nagar police took the protesters into preventive custody.

The agitators told the media, "For the past two months, we have been attending college, but we don't have guest lecturers. What about our academic careers? We will continue protesting until we get justice, and today we decided to protest outside the minister's house." Another student said the minister was "missing" and not listening to their grievances.

Police said that around 50-80 students, including girls, were taken into preventive custody, as protests are only allowed at Freedom Park. No case has been registered, police said, adding that the minister was not at home at the time.

Act on SSLC exam reform draft, govt urged

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Associated Managements of Primary and Secondary Schools in Karnataka (KAMS) has appealed to School Education and Literacy Minister Madhu Bangarappa to take immediate steps on the proposed revision of the SSLC examination system.

In a letter to the minister, the association referred to the draft notification issued on July 24, which was released for public objections and comments within 15 days. The KAMS stated that objections and suggestions from students, teachers, education experts, and the public across the state had already been submitted to the government and consolidated by the Education Department for final orders.

KAMS said the government and the department's efforts to address the concerns of state syllabus students and to ensure equal justice without discrimination compared to students of other curricula were welcomed and appreciated.

The KAMS noted that the date for the current year's SSLC examination has already been fixed, and with six months remaining, the issuance of an official order would ensure that students can prepare without unnecessary burden. The association emphasized that more than eight lakh students appearing for the SSLC exam in 2026 would benefit from timely reforms. It also observed that consideration of internal marks, as followed in other curricula, would remove the need to award grace marks.

"Since single-use plastic was being used despite warnings by the Furl Polyfilm Manufacturing company, the BSWML and the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board jointly inspected the unit," Gowda said. A fine of Rs 10 lakh was imposed. In addition, the owner has been warned not to use single-use plastic again. The officials had previously visited this unit and given a warning.

Butterflies migrating to escape climate change

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

JUST like large mammals and other wildlife, butterflies also migrate — but now, they are moving towards safer habitats due to increasing urbanisation and climate change.

Experts have noted increasing deaths during their migration in many places. Noted lepidopterist and Associate Professor and Principal Investigator, National Centre for Biological Sciences (NCBS), Krushnamegh Kunte said many Lemon Emigrant butterflies have been sighted lying dead on Ballari Road, due to increased movement of high-speed vehicles and construction activities. This is one of the threats butterflies are now facing, apart from unprecedented rainfall, he said. Thus, experts and observers, including lepidopterists, researchers, educationists, academicians, retired defence personnel, students and homemakers have urged people to protect lung spaces, and home/kitchen/balcony gardens, parks and playgrounds for these pollinators.

Studies show that during the southwest monsoon, butterflies migrate from Western Ghats to the Eastern Ghats and during the northeast monsoon, they travel back. Four large species have been studied — Tirumala septentrionis (Dark Blue Tiger), Tirumala limniace (Blue Tiger), Euploea core (Common Crow) and Euploea sylvester (Double-branded Crow) — to understand long-range migration of other species along with the migratory pattern, said Rohit Girotra, founder member of Bengaluru Butterfly Club.

Experts are also studying the decline in species in Karnataka, particularly in urban areas. "Bengaluru houses a large number of butterfly species, compared to other metropolises. So far, 180 species have been documented in Bengaluru, though there is no clarity on the number. In the past 15 years, 40 species were added to the list, including the Graphium nomius (Spot swordtail). There is a need to protect butterflies because of unprecedented rainfall, and also unplanned urbanisation," Girotra added.

Butterflies are the second largest pollinators after honeybees. Awareness on their protection, especially on city outskirts like Hessarghatta, Makalidurga, Savandurga, Devarayanadurga and surrounding areas, is needed where development is gaining momentum, experts pointed out.

They noted that butterflies are also found to adapt to changing environmental conditions and surroundings while finding new home ranges. An increase in Elymnias caudata (Tailed Palmfly) has been noted because of the large presence of palm trees. Also an increase in Gangara thyrsis (Giant Redeyes) and Troides minos (Southern Birdwing- Karnataka's state butterfly) has been noted. It has also been observed that they are adapting to changing agricultural practices. Experts pointed to a decline in the sighting of some species, like Cigaritis lilacinus (Lilac Silverline).

Kunte said in the past few years, they have recorded some rare species like Bibasis sena (Orange-tailed Awl), Caprona alida (Alida Angle), Tarucus balkanicus (Little Tiger), Papilio paris (Paris Peacock) and Rathinda amor (Monkey Puzzle).

Don't take too much for granted and do try to see people and situations as they really are. Remember that old saying: the good general never fights a battle she, or he, is not going to win. That way you'll avoid blundering into problems which are actually easily avoided.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should get out and about today, satisfying your natural curiosity. Don't take your preconceptions with you, but understand that everyone has a story to tell. Also, seek out the people who can give you the expert advice and practical help you need.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Jupiter enables you to take the initiative. The question, though, is what issues to deal with now? I'd say that shopping, spending and savings have a fair claim on your time, if not the best. But then, there's also the emotional cost of a relationship to consider.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Career or personal problems have to be faced, but you can allow yourself some time off. Given that a number of long-term questions can now be deferred, today looks like a good time to potter around, busying yourself with chores and home improvements.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The only things that will stop you are your own doubts. You would be well advised to wait until this evening, tomorrow or even next month if you are initiating a new project. If you push ahead too early, then you might forget some very essential preparations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may decide to throw in your lot with a person, or persons, who operate in a different circle. You might do best to start by making your needs quite clear, and leaving nobody in any doubt that you mean business. But they probably already know that, anyway!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon's tricky relationship with your sign may set you on edge but, if you give in to your emotions, you may feel a whole lot better. You should already have a date in your mind for your next major engagement, so get on and make the necessary arrangements.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
This is very much a time to capitalise on your unique potential, not to mention your under-used artistic talents. Please try and find whatever romantic avenue is going to suit you best. The point is that if you're happy, people close to you will feel better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You've been through the mill, but difficulties over intensely personal matrimonial or partnership matters should now be in the past. You're now in a healing phase, during which all rifts must be mended. If you allow difficult emotions to linger then they might get worse again next month, or the month after that.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The overall planetary picture is decidedly more encouraging than it has been of late, partly because the Sun and Mercury are adjusting their positions. It almost looks as if you may rely on other people, and depend on partners to come up with the goods. Unpunctuality, though, will not go unpunished!

Lokayukta visit exposes mismanagement at Kidwai

Initiates probe into illegal activities after anonymous complaint

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DURING a surprise visit to the Kidwai Memorial Cancer Hospital by Karnataka Lokayukta, the officials found that though the pediatric department of the hospital had recorded 618 new cases in the past year alone there were insufficient doctors and supporting staff available relative to patient numbers.

The Lokayukta has initiated an investigation into alleged mismanagement, irregularities, and illegal activities at the hospital following an anonymous complaint regarding administrative lapses at the hospital.

Justice BS Patil, along with a judicial and police officers inspected all departments, seized relevant records, and assessed the extent of mismanagement.

According to a press release, during the inspection, several lapses were found. The appointed administrative officer was reportedly visiting the hospital only once a week, despite holding additional charge of administration. The pediatric department recorded 618 new cases in the past year, with a daily average of three children seeking cancer-related treatment. The recovery rate in the department was noted at 60–65%.

In the past 18 months, the hospital successfully performed 115 bone marrow transplants, including 30 pediatric cases. However, officials noted that doctors and supporting staff were insufficient against the number of patients, the release stated.

The release added that the inspection also revealed gaps in the hospital pharmacy. Several prescribed medicines, including Enzavutamide 160 mg and Exylete tablets, were not available on-site. While tender processes were underway to buy these drugs, staff were reportedly directing patients to external medical stores.

Hospital pharmacist Abhilasha clarified that 40% of medicine costs are covered by the state government and 60% by the central government.

The Lokayukta has instructed the inspection team to submit a detailed report on all irregularities and take appropriate action against the staff found responsible for lapses.

Bengaluru: A major fire broke out at a handicraft store on Pipeline Road in Malleshwaram police station limits early Friday morning. No casualties were reported in the incident. The police said the fire started around 2.30 am due to a suspected electrical short circuit on the ground floor and spread to the first floor. Four worker, who were sleeping in the ground floor, escaped in the nick of time. The blaze also spread to three apartments in a neighbouring building. Locals alerted the fire and emergency services. It is said that goods worth around Rs 5 crore were destroyed and adjacent buildings were damaged in the fire. The police said a case has been registered. Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao visited the spot. ENS

₹320-cr mission to bring down maternal mortality rate in state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HEALTH and Family Welfare Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao on Friday said Karnataka aims to have a mission for zero preventive maternal deaths and the goal is to bring Karnataka's maternal mortality ratio (MMR) down to 40 per 100,000 live births in the next two-and-a-half years, ultimately reducing it to 20 to achieve global standards.

Karnataka's maternal mortality ratio (MMR) currently stands at 68 per 100,000 live births, the highest in South India, according to the latest Sample Registration System data.

The minister was speaking at a one-day conference on 'Reducing Maternal Mortality in Karnataka' organised by the Indian Institute of Public Administration, Karnataka regional branch, in partnership with RV University's Center for Global Health and Development, here on Friday.

"It is a harsh truth that, for a state of our intellect and resources, we are failing to keep pace with our neighbours. The Rs 320-crore mission to bring preventable maternal deaths to zero should not merely be an allocation; it should be the guarantee of the state government," said Dr Ranjini C Raghavendra, Director of Centre for Global Health and Development, RV University.

Delegates discussed key themes, including preventing maternal deaths, translating evidence into policy and strengthening health system capacities.

Successful models from neighbouring states and international best practices were reviewed.

Pomegranates worth ₹4.5 lakh stolen from field

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH prices of fruits skyrocketing, thieves targeted an orchard at Matkuru village in Soladevanahalli police limits and made away with pomegranates worth around Rs 4.5 lakh. The theft took place on the night of September 17 and owner of the orchard Revant Kumar, 25, a postgraduate in biochemistry, filed a complaint with Soladevanahalli police the next day.

According to the FIR, Kumar had planted around 450 pomegranate saplings on his one-acre plot and was gearing up for his first harvest. But thieves entered his farm on September 17 and made away with the fruits.

He said, "CCTV footage from a nearby house showed four people moving in the direction of my orchard in two autorickshaws. I suspect that they might have plucked the fruits and taken them in the autorickshaws."

Shop owner, staff held for beating woman thief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 44-year-old wholesale saree dealer and his employee have been arrested by the City Market police for mercilessly beating a 55-year-old woman after she stole a bundle of sarees kept at the shop's entrance. The incident happened on September 20.

The woman has also been arrested for stealing 61 sarees worth around Rs 91,000. She had stolen the sarees to arrange money to buy alcohol.

The shop owner has been identified as Umed Ram, owner of Maya Silk Sarees on Avenue Road, and his employee Mahendra Seervi (25). The woman has been identified as Hampamma from Guntakal in Anantapur of Andhra Pradesh.

At the time of the theft, the shop owner had gone out. Later, when he couldn't find the sarees, he checked the CCTV footage and saw the woman, accompanied with a boy, entering the shop as a prospective customer and taking the bundle. The next day, he spotted the woman near the shop and thrashed her along his employee. They kicked her on her abdomen multiple times. The duo continued beating her despite her apologising. Ram then called the police control room and the patrolling staff took her to the station. Following the shop owner's complaint, she was arrested on September 21 and sent to Bengaluru Central Prison in Parappana Agrahara.

However, after a video of the woman being beaten went viral, the police swung into action and arrested the duo. A few Kannada activists protested outside the shop on Thursday (September 25) evening. The Karnataka State Commission for Women has also written to the City Police Commissioner to look into the matter.

"The attack on the woman came to our notice on Thursday through the video. When Ram filed the complaint, there was no mention that he beat her. Search is on for the person who purchased the stolen sarees from her," said an officer.

Both Ram and Mahendra have been booked for assault or use of criminal force on a woman with intent to outrage her modesty (BNS 74) and causing hurt (BNS 115). A case of theft (BNS 303(2)) has been registered against Hamapamma.

IISc scientist under digi-arrest loses ₹8.8 lakh

Bengaluru: A 49-year-old scientist from the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) lost ₹8.8 lakh after falling prey to a "digital arrest" scam, where fraudsters impersonated CBI officers. The victim, identified as Dr Sandhya S, filed a complaint with the Central Cyber Police, stating that on September 16, she received a call from an unknown number claiming her mobile number was being misused. Soon after, she was connected to individuals posing as police officers and later as CBI officials. They told her that 17 criminal cases, including human trafficking, had been registered in her name, the FIR stated. To convince her, the fraudsters shared fake Supreme Court documents and threatened her with arrest by the CBI. Over the next three days, between September 17 and 19, they coerced her into transferring Rs 8.8 lakh, citing it as part of an "investigation." ENS

TALUK HOSPITALS TO BE UPGRADED TO REDUCE MATERNAL & NEONATAL MORTALITY

Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao prepares to address the media on maternal mortality, at Vikasa Soudha on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

BENGALURU: Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said on Friday that the state government has plans to provide round-the-clock healthcare services for pregnant women and newborns in all taluk hospitals in addition to district hospitals and 41 community health centres (CHCs). The government's aim is to strengthen maternal and child health (MCH) services and reduce maternal and neonatal mortality in the state, Rao told reporters here. He said, "Each of these hospitals will have a 'double triad' of specialists – two gynecologists, two anesthetists, two pediatricians, and a radiologist. These medical professionals will ensure that pregnant women and newborns receive quality healthcare round-the-clock." All taluk hospitals will be upgraded to Comprehensive Emergency Obstetric and Newborn Care (CEmONC) centres. Forty-one CHCs with an average of 30 or more monthly deliveries will retain specialists, while around 230 underperforming CHCs will lose them. The doctors will be shifted to busier taluk hospitals, he said. According to data, Karnataka recorded 4.71 lakh deliveries during 2024–25 and taluk hospitals registered the highest share of 33%. However, only 31 of the 148 taluk hospitals recorded more than 100 deliveries a month. ENS

₹60.36 cr released for survey enumerators

First instalment of Rs 5,000 per teacher to be paid this month; DCs to oversee timely payments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government has opened its coffers wide, sanctioning a whopping Rs 60.36 crore to pay the massive army of 1.2 lakh enumerators deployed for the state's historic Socio-Educational Survey, that kicked off on September 22. Each enumerator will be paid a flat Rs 5,000 plus Rs 100 for every household surveyed, while supervisory officers will draw Rs 10,000 each.

Those working in Greater Bengaluru Authority areas are set to receive even higher allowances to cover their added expenses, in keeping with rates in Bengaluru. Member-secretary of the Karnataka State Backward Classes Commission KD Dayanand has clarified that the money will be disbursed in stages: a first instalment of Rs 5,000 per enumerator this month, followed by payments at the same rate for the coming months. Supervisors, too, will be paid Rs 10,000 per phase.

Funds have already been released to Deputy Commissioners across districts, who will oversee transparent and timely payouts.

The scale of the operation is staggering. Bengaluru alone will see 2.74 lakh households surveyed, covering nearly 3.48 crore people. Statewide, every district, taluk, hobli and ward will be covered until May 7, 2026. Enumerators will gather details on caste, education, employment, housing, health, sanitation, water, and electricity. The government has urged citizens to cooperate, stressing that the findings will shape future welfare policies for backward classes.

Members of the Valmiki community take out a protest march in Hosapete on Thursday, opposing the Karnataka government's proposal to include Kuruba and other communities in the Scheduled Tribes (ST) category. The protest rally culminated in a memorandum being submitted to district officials, demanding the withdrawal of the proposal within 10 days | SHIVASHANKAR BANAGAR

1.2 lakh teachers on the job

Over 1.2 lakh teachers have been assigned this duty. If there is any negligence, legal action will be taken against enumerators. At the same time, honorarium payments have already been released to them, he said.

"Some teachers were resisting due to misconceptions. They have agreed to get fully involved in the survey work from Friday. In hilly areas, survey centres will be established in schools for people's convenience, while the online facility should be promoted. If any homes are locked, enumerators must return to complete the survey," he advised.

Participation in survey voluntary: Panel

The Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes has stated that participation by citizens/households in the Socio, Economic and Educational Survey is voluntary and there is no compulsion. Though the survey envisages to cover the entire populace of the state, it is hereby clarified that the participation by citizens/households is voluntary and there is no compulsion on their part to disclose information, the Member-Secretary, Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes, stated.

Archbishop: Adding caste left to Christian community

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WELCOMING the socio-economic survey being carried out by the state government, Archbishop of Bengaluru Peter Machado has left the decision of adding 'caste' to Christian community members.

The Archbishop underlined the advantages of the survey, stating it will help identify the real beneficiaries of the government's economic and social welfare policies. It will provide a clear classification of different caste groups, enabling the framing of policies and programmes that are just, inclusive and need-based. It will assist the state in correcting disparities and ensuring that the weakest and most marginalised truly benefit, he said.

The Archbishop is hopeful that the omission of certain castes linked to Christianity in the published lists will be restored after the final analyses of the survey.

Addressing a press conference on Friday, the Archbishop said community leaders never insisted on adding and identifying communities with a caste or sub-caste. During the socio-economic survey conducted by the Backward Classes Commission in 2015, members of the (Christian) community mentioned caste and sub-caste on their own. "However, their principal faith remains Christianity," he added.

He expressed displeasure over opposition parties taking objection to caste and sub-caste, and other faiths linked within the Christian fold, and the government giving in. "The downtrodden moved to the Christian fold, identified themselves with caste and sub-caste for policies and programmes for uplift, and the number was very small. Opposition to this, and the government removing caste and sub-caste is unfortunate. However, giving an opportunity to community members to take part in the survey will help in tallying exact figures of the total Christian population," he said. Christians are covered under 3C, behind Muslims (2B category) and the survey will help in appealing to the government to add the community to 2C, he added.

On the decision to knock out the provision for the downtrodden in the Christian community, and the opportunity in government programmes being denied, the Archbishop said, "Those who can afford a good education may move abroad, but many are poor and cannot get a government or a decent job. The government will give them a job only if they belong to some caste. I don't know why the opposition made a fuss about it. The number of castes is very less and we would have been happy if they had been accommodated."

He contended that there was a presidential order in 1950, which discriminates between a Hindu convert and a Muslim or Christian convert. Hindu converts, who are Sikhs and Buddhists, can retain the category, but the same has been deprived for converts in Christian and Muslim folds. "This is open discrimination. Give us what you are given to them," he urged.

MY TAKE

Listen to Premji; Only specialists can help this beauty regain grace

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

A pretty little girl, who grew up into a beautiful woman, is today suffering from severe congestion in her body's network of arteries and veins that transport blood. It's called vascular congestion. Her blood vessels have swelled, narrowing the passage through which blood flows. It can be treated, but there's a problem that's keeping treatment out of reach. Specialists trained to treat her are kept away, while non-specialists call the shots. That stalls curing this "beautiful woman", Namma Bengaluru.

The analogy should not be ignored. Roads are like arteries and veins through which blood flows smoothly only when they are unobstructed. The result of that happening is well known, and that's precisely what is happening with Bengaluru.

The spurt in her growth, especially from the mid-1980s onwards, has taken the city's population to about 1.43 crore now from approximately 34 lakhs then. Her vehicle population has drastically risen from about 3.06 lakhs in the mid-1980s to 1.20 crore now. But the growth has not been matched with deservingly adequate road infrastructure. Absence of scientific application of mind and poor geometry while designing roads, poor quality of material used in laying them, lack of quality footpaths, poorly designed flyovers, ineffective push to encourage citizens to take public transport, and the lack of disciplined motoring behaviour, have cumulatively led to severe traffic congestion across Bengaluru.

Adding to the woes are unauthorised buildings, leniency towards building norms violation, encroachments of stormwater drains, weak enforcement of traffic laws, and an illegal "circular economy" concerning road maintenance – particularly the dreaded potholes. Poor road quality pushes for frequent maintenance, involving processes that encourage pocket-filling along the rungs of political and bureaucratic hierarchies rather than long-lasting pothole-filling.

Urban experts know it, and have pointed it out, too. They know what the solution is, but who is listening? They want the urban transport and planning domain to be handled by an exclusive department of specialists who can – and are qualified to – deal precisely with the factors causing Bengaluru her "vascular" problems.

Now, the heavily congested Iblur Junction on Outer Ring Road (ORR) is in focus. This is at the T-junction of ORR and Sarjapur Road, the IT corridor of south-east Bengaluru. Traffic congestion in IT corridors is a sensitive issue – potential negative messaging to companies seeking to invest in Bengaluru and surrounding areas. As a quick-fix solution, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah sought help from Azim Premji, Founder Chairman, Wipro, a leading IT company headquartered on Sarjapur Road and linked to Bengaluru since the late 1970s. His September 19-dated letter to Premji appealed for allowing limited vehicular movement through the Wipro campus, as assessments by traffic and urban mobility experts indicated that "such a measure could reduce congestion on adjoining stretches of ORR by nearly 30%, particularly during peak office hours."

Premji, on September 24, refused while apprehending "significant legal, governance and statutory challenges since it is an exclusive private property owned by a listed company not intended for public thoroughfare." He also pointed out that Wipro's Sarjapur campus is a Special Economic Zone (SEZ) providing services to global customers, and that their contractual conditions mandated stringent, non-negotiable access control norms for governance and compliance. "Moreover, public vehicular movement through a private property would not be effective as a sustainable, long-term solution," he said.

Premji echoed precisely what experts have been saying all along, while pointing out that "there is unlikely to be a single point solution or a silver bullet to resolve it," and highlighted that the most effective path forward is to commission a comprehensive scientific study "led by an entity with world-class expertise in urban transport management," which would allow developing "a holistic roadmap of effective solutions that are implementable in the short, medium and long term."

As a commitment to being part of the solution, Premji said, "Wipro will be pleased to engage this process and underwrite a significant portion of the cost for this expert study."

The chief minister's appeal to Premji – although well-intended – may itself reflect the state government's weak approach in finding long-term solutions for Bengaluru's problems. It could convey that although the state government is inviting companies to invest and set up facilities in Karnataka, there remains a possibility of depending on the companies themselves for solutions for its infrastructural shortcomings.

Besides, poor road and infrastructure conditions in Namma Bengaluru, especially post 1990s, have outlived political regimes in Karnataka, so there is no meaning in political parties blaming each other for the malaise that Bengaluru is in now.

Therefore, following Premji's suggestion and offer, the focus now should shift to constituting a specialised service that can scientifically tackle the needs of urban planning, so that traffic congestion and poor road infrastructure no longer pose problems.

Beautiful Namma Bengaluru may still have hopes to set examples for other cities. But the ruling dispensation needs to understand that only specialists can treat her back to fitness. None else!

Transport minister blames BJP for pothole muddle in Bengaluru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TRANSPORT minister Ramalinga Reddy on Friday held the previous BJP government responsible for the pothole muddle on Bengaluru roads. He said the previous government did not lay roads well and failed in ensuring proper maintenance.

"Justice HN Nagamohan Das Commission has recommended action against officers responsible for the maintenance of roads. It is up to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar to take a call on it. The filling of potholes is a routine process and apparently the blame comes on the ruling government," the minister said.

"In the past, 17 people died due to accidents related to potholes. We had criticised the BJP government then as there were lakhs of potholes. The high court was monitoring the situation for two years and the then BBMP commissioner Tushar Girinath was being summoned every month. During our tenure there has been no such a situation. The court is not monitoring us. The CM and DCM have said that the engineers of the respective wards are responsible and action will be taken against them," he said.

Meanwhile, BJP state president BY Vijayendra said the number of potholes has increased during the Congress regime. LoP in Assembly, R Ashoka, and his counterpart in Legislative Council, Chalavadi Narayanaswamy, led the BJP workers, in an apparent dig at the DCM, by filling the potholes near his residence. The DCM had said that there were potholes even on the road leading to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's residence.

On VHP's petition to Governor appealing to free temples from the Religious Endowments Department, Reddy said let Prime Minister Narendra Modi bring a uniform law for the country. "In the past, there was no Religious Endowments Department as there were hereditary temples. Then, due to feud among the heirs, the Muzrai Department was started during the British period", he said.

On Shakti Guarantee Scheme he said that the government has a due of Rs 3,000 crore. But the government has given Rs 2,000 crore to transport corporations and Rs 800 crore in addition to buy new buses, he added.

Always readers' favourite, Bhyrappa's works will be bestsellers for long time

GAYATHRI M KURUP @Bengaluru

THE demise of celebrated Kannada novelist SL Bhyrappa has brought attention again to the enduring popularity of his works, which have always been in steady demand.

For decades, his novels have sold consistently across Karnataka and beyond, earning him a loyal and ever-expanding readership.

From 'Vamsha Vriksha' and 'Gruhabhanga' to 'Parva', 'Avarana', 'Naayi Neralu', and 'Mandra', Bhyrappa's works were known to sell like hot cakes.

"His books were always number one in sales, especially 'Parva', consistently in demand in both Kannada and English. Except for 'Yaana', which received mixed reactions, every title was widely acclaimed," said Krishna, proprietor, Bookworm. "Bhyrappa's novels never stayed on shelves for too long. The moment we stocked them, readers would pick them up. His writing had that rare quality of connecting across generations, languages, and regions. Over the decades, we have seen college students, homemakers, professors, and even people outside Karnataka constantly asking for his books. That kind of demand is not created overnight; it is the result of a lifetime of trust that readers had in his storytelling. Even today, the interest has only grown stronger, proving that Bhyrappa was not just a best-selling author, but a phenomenon in Kannada literature," said Jameel Sawanna, owner of Sawanna Publication House.

Jameel recalls not just his success, but also his loyalty. "He stood by his publisher Sahitya Bhandara for years, and their relationship was built on mutual trust. That is rare in today's world, and I always admired him for it," he added.

According to Doddegowda, General Manager, Sapna Book House, the readership for Bhyrappa's works spans generations.

"Traditionally, readers between 40 and 60 engaged deeply with his novels, but even younger audiences have embraced them in recent years. His books have always moved steadily," he said.

After his death, publishers and booksellers have noted a fresh wave of interest, with readers reaching out for his books from across Karnataka and even abroad. Many bookstores have set up special sections for his works, a gesture that underlines how Bhyrappa's novels continue to resonate with readers.

POST GBA: GOVERNOR MODIFIES PORTFOLIOS OF DKS, RAHIM KHAN

Bengaluru: Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot on Friday modified the portfolios of Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar and Municipal Administration and Haj Minister K Rahim Khan. This was done on the advice of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in the wake of the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) coming into existence with five new corporations. Shivakumar earlier had Major and Medium Irrigation and Bengaluru Development, including BBMP, BDA, BWSSB, BMRDA, BMRCL (connected to Town Planning). Now, this has been modified to Major and Medium Irrigation, Bengaluru Urban Development (connected to Bengaluru Town Planning, Greater Bengaluru Authority and five city corporations and all the urban local bodies coming under Bengaluru Urban district (except service matters), BDA, BWSSB, BMRDA and BMRCL. Rahim Khan was allotted Municipal Administration and Haj (excluding all the urban local bodies coming under Bengaluru Urban district). ENS

Apply for new ration cards from Oct, says Muniyappa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

MINISTER for Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs KH Muniyappa said on Friday that people can start applying for ration cards from October.

Addressing reporters here, he said revision of BPL cards will be completed by then. During the recent survey of beneficiaries under the National Food Security Act (NFSA), 7.70 lakh ration cards were identified as ineligible. These 7.70 lakh ration card holders in Karnataka will be shifted from the BPL category to APL.

Successive governments kept issuing BPL cards to people without any check. "States such as Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Kerala do not have more than 50% BPL cardholders as per an assessment. But Karnataka has more than 75%. Despite being a developed state, Karnataka has 1.28 crore BPL and Antyodaya card holders. Hence, the revision of BPL cards is on in the state," he said. He said if ration cards have been erroneously changed from BPL to APL, such beneficiaries can apply for BPL cards. Foodgrains will be supplied to them within a day.

After revision, a window will be opened for new applications for ration cards, Muniyappa said.

BSNL Karnataka Circle announced on Friday that 793 new sites in Karnataka had been finalised under its 4G saturation project, with an incurred cost of around Rs 890 crores. Of these, 517 sites are operational and providing services in previously uncovered villages

TTD laddu probe: SC stays HC order on CBI chief

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday stayed an order by the Andhra Pradesh High Court that had criticised the CBI Director for allegedly violating apex court directions by appointing an officer outside the Special Investigation Team (SIT) to investigate claims of adulterated ghee used in Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanam's (TTD) laddu prasadam.

A three-judge bench led by Chief Justice of India BR Gavai, along with Justices K Vinod Chandran and NV Anjaria, orally observed that there was no impropriety in the SIT delegating the investigation to another officer, given that the probe was being monitored by the CBI Director. The High Court had earlier held that the CBI Director acted contrary to Supreme Court directions by allowing J Venkat Rao, not formally part of the SIT, to conduct the investigation. The order was based on a plea by Kuduru Chinnappanna, who alleged coercion and intimidation by Rao to record scripted false statements, which were video recorded.

During Friday's hearing, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta argued that the CBI Director had convened a meeting with the SIT and was overseeing the investigation. The bench was informed that Rao was functioning merely as a record keeper and not leading the probe.

The Supreme Court directed the respondents to file their counter to the plea.

It may be recalled that in October last year, the Supreme Court constituted a fresh and independent SIT comprising two CBI officers, two Andhra Pradesh police officers, and a senior official from the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India to investigate the allegations.

The court clarified that the new SIT was intended to inspire public confidence, especially given the religious sentiments of millions of devotees associated with the Tirupati prasadam.

'Govt negligence cause for student suicide'

KIRAN Kumar Sajjan from Raichur said that he has been attending coaching classes for the last six years, paying a hefty fee. He had a dream of becoming a sub-inspector and has not explored options in the private sector. Now that he is 29 years old, his parents are forcing him to get married. If the government relaxes the age limit, Kiran said he will try his luck.

Chanukya, an aspirant for a police constable's post, said the protest was not the voice of any single organisation or person. The candidates have been waiting for the government to fill up vacancies for the last two years, but it has not been done.

"Ministers and elected representatives are bothered only about their families. Because of the negligence of the government, a large number of people are dying by suicide," he said. "We have been waiting for the last six to seven years to get a government job. We are ready to picket houses and offices of ministers if they fail to fulfil our demand. This protest is a trailer. Delay will only make this movement grow stronger," he said. As the protest swelled, senior police officers rushed to the spot and managed to disperse the crowd.

- Protesters verbally abused Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Dy CM DK Shivakumar, Home Minister G Parameshwar and others. They also tore banners with pictures of these leaders.
- The protesters connected through WhatsApp and other social media platforms. It was initially thought to be a small assembly with students planning to submit a memorandum to the administration

HC clears deportation of Russian woman, kids

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

GOKARNA CAVE CASE

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday allowed the Central government to issue necessary travel documents to deport an overstaying Russian woman and her children, who were found living in a cave in Gokarna, Uttara Kannada, to return to Russia.

Disposing of the petition filed by Dror Shlomo Goldstein, an Israeli national who claimed he was the father of the children, seeking to prevent the Central government from allowing the sudden deportation of his minor daughters from India to another country, Justice BM Shyam Prasad noted that rehabilitation of the mother and children is just and reasonable, in the best interests of the children.

Additional Solicitor-General Aravind Kamath informed the court earlier that the younger child's DNA report was communicated to the Russian government, and Russian citizenship had been granted. Emergency travel documents were issued.

Heggade thanks K'taka govt for setting up SIT

VENDORS and women devotees of the Dharmasthala village offered a special puja and Lalithasahasranama on Friday. Later, at a programme organised at Amruthavarshini Hall of Shri Kshetra Dharmasthala, Dharmadhikari Dr Veerendra Heggade, Hemavathi Heggade, Harshendra Kumar, and family participated.

Addressing the gathering, Dr Veerendra Heggade said, "I thank the state government for constituting the Special Investigation Team (SIT), due to which the truth is coming out. I'm reading several books, and I have read books by Siddaganga seer, who said service and dharma are our priority. I do not know why there is so much hatred and allegations. We are offering service, and it is this selfless service that has kept us healthy. Dharmasthala and the villagers of Dharmasthala are not separate. You have seen to what extent we are targeted. I do not know why there is so much hatred towards me. Now I'm relieved and I'm thankful to all those who kept faith in me. Lakhs of people have come here and shown solidarity. I have not hated anyone. I have hope, and we have not committed any mistakes. I am speaking with confidence since half of the SIT report has been received. I thank the government for protecting the sanctity. Manjunatha Swamy and Annappa Swamy will take care of everything. We are on the path of truth, and we will continue to do so," he said.

Meanwhile, the Witness-complainant's video with Mahesh Shetty Timarodi, in which he talks about Uday Jain, has been released on social media. In the video, the witness-complainant accuses Uday Jain of being a womaniser.Police have issued a third notice to Mahesh Shetty Timarodi in connection with the arms case in which he has failed to appear before the police. His anticipatory bail petition will be heard on Saturday.

PROCLAMATION OF SALE
(Under Order-21, Rule – 66)

Notice is hereby given that, under rule 64 of Order XXI of the CPC 1908, an order has been passed by this court for the sale of the attached property mentioned in the annexed schedule, in satisfaction of the claim of the decree-holder in the suit (1) mentioned in the margin, amounting with costs and interest up to filing of petition for sum of Rs. 21,85,279/-(Twenty one lakhs Eighty five thousand Two hundred Seventy Nine).

The sale will be by public auction, and the property will be put for sale specified in the schedule. The sale will be of the property of the judgment-debtor No.2 above named as mentioned in the schedule below; and the liabilities and claims attaching to the said property, so far as they have been ascertained, are those specified in the schedule against the attached property.

In the absence any order of postponement, the sale will be held by court at the monthly sale commencing at 11 'O'clock on the 28-10-2025 at property bearing No. 23, 23/1, 23/2 (old No. 20), present PID No.s 77-82-23, 77-82-23/1 and 77-82-23/2 ward No. 77, 2nd Main Road, V Block, Kumara Park West Extension, Bengaluru. In the event, however, of the debt above specified and of the costs of the sale being tendered or paid before the knocking down of schedule attached property, the sale will be stopped.

At the sale the public generally are invited to bid, either personally or by duly authorized agent. No bid by, or on behalf of, the judgment creditors above mentioned, however, will be accepted, nor will any sale to them be valid without express permission of the court previously given. The following are the further.

Condition of sale

1. Sale particulars specified in the schedule below have been stated to the best of information of the court, but the court will not answerable for any error, misstatement or omission in this proclamation.
2. The amount by which the biddings are to be increased shall be determined by the officer conducting the sale. In the event of any dispute arising as to the amount of bid, or as to the bidder, shall at once be again put up to auction.
3. The highest bidder shall be declared to be the purchaser of schedule property, provided always that he is illegally qualified to bid, and provided that it shall be in the discretion of the court or office holding the sale to decline acceptance of the highest bid when the price offered appears so clearly in adequate as to make it advisable to do so.
4. For reasons recorded, it shall be in the discretion of the office conducting the sale to adjourn it subject always to the provision of rule 69 of the order XXI.
5. The price of schedule property shall be paid at the time of sale or as soon after as the officer holding the sale directs, and in default of payment the property shall forthwith be again put up and re-sold.
6. In the case of schedule property the person declared to be the purchaser shall pay immediately after such declaration a deposit of 25 percent. On the amount of his purchase money to the officer conducting the sale, and in default of such deposit the property shall forthwith be put up again and resold.
7. The full amount of the purchase money shall be paid by the purchaser before the court closes on the 15th day of after the sale of the property, exclusive of such, day, or if the 15th day be a Sunday or other holiday, then on the first office day after the 15th day.
8. In the default of payment of the balance of purchase money within the period allowed, the property shall be re-sold after the issue of a fresh notification of sale. The deposit, after defraying the expenses of sale, may, if the court thinks fit, be forfeited to government and defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claims to the property or to any part of the sum for which it may be subsequently sold.

INSURANCE PLATFORM NEEDS SIMPLER RULES, DATA CARE TO SUCCEED

AFTER years of handwringing, the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority has finally rolled out a critical reform—Bima Sugam. It's claimed to be the world's first platform bringing insurers, agents, brokers, banks, and aggregators together, making buying, renewing, and claiming all policies easier. Touted as the game-changer, it offers a unique, lifetime digital insurance ID, Bima Pehchaan, which links individuals' various policies under a secure, consent-based framework, eliminating complex paperwork and facilitating claim settlements. The digital platform, backed by the regulator, aims to empower and protect policyholders, and increase reach and affordability to achieve the vision of insurance for all by 2047. Though India was the world's 10th largest insurance market in 2021, and is on course to be the sixth largest by 2032, insurance penetration—at 3.7 percent in 2023-24—remains well below the global average of 6-7 percent.

Although IRDAI has pitched Bima Sugam as the 'UPI moment' for insurance, there are significant challenges to mind. While consumers have the option of comparing and buying policies online even now, a major stumbling block is the confusion caused by intricate clauses and jargon. Policyholders often do not completely understand the coverage terms, ending up with messy claim settlements. This is why consumers rely on agents to assist them through the entire settlement process. The downside, though, is that agents often push specific products based on commission or personal preference. They pocket an estimated 15-40 percent of the first-year premium as commission, depending on the product and insurer, which inflates premiums in the long term. While buying online eliminates this cost and prevents misselling, not all customers are comfortable or satisfied with claim settlement without agents' assistance. It will be interesting to see how Bima Sugam fills the void, particularly in rural areas, where users may need more handholding.

Given India's low premiums-to-GDP ratio, Bima Sugam comes through as a serious reform intended to democratise insurance, empower policyholders, and simplify processes. However, IRDAI must first ensure strict data-sharing protocols and end-to-end protection of sensitive financial data across the entire value chain. The regulator should also place a strong emphasis on protecting privacy and maintaining the integrity of personal information at every stage, whether while collecting, storing, or sharing personally identifiable data. The reform needs trust to make it work.

SUPERHEROINE HIT POINTS TO A CHANGING SOCIETY

SOMETHING interesting is afoot in the Malayalam film industry. After earning a bad name last year for the complete absence of female leads in hit movies, it has come up with the first ever superheroine film that has become the highest-grossing Malayalam film of all time. The Kalyani Priyadarshan starrer Lokah: Chapter 1—Chandra has also been counted as the highest-earning female-centric film in Indian cinema. It has upstaged Mohanlal's L2: Empuraan as the biggest blockbuster in Malayalam till date. Its success has travelled far beyond Telugu and Tamil heartlands, into Hindi-speaking territories. In its fourth week on the big screen, Lokah's pan-India collection stood at ₹138.65 crore—unprecedented for any film with a female lead.

What's more interesting is that several women worked behind the camera, too. Co-writer Santhy Balachandran, colourist Yashika Routray and rapper Reble were part of the team that created the story of Neeli, a powerful vampire who belongs to a marginalised community. The success of Lokah becomes all the more remarkable with hindsight. No Malayalam superhit produced in 2024—from Manjummel Boys to Aavesham—had any female character except in blink-and-you-miss roles. The industry had faced lots of flak for making women 'invisible', especially considering that Malayalam films had always had strong female characters.

Equally appreciable is the support the film received from women across the Indian film industry. Within its first week, Priyanka Chopra publicly put Lokah on her watchlist and Alia Bhatt gave it a rave review. Underlining the importance of sisterhood, actress Nyla Usha shared a striking image featuring Kalyani alongside Parvathy and Darshana—two actors who had voiced their opinion against the "disappearance" of women from Malayalam cinema. As she rightfully put it, Kalyani's victory today is shared with everyone who had questioned the absence of women, especially predecessors who had raised the issue even at the cost of their careers. That a writer got the courage to conceive a powerful woman-centric film, a major production company came forward to produce it, and the audience welcomed the output with standing ovation time and again say a lot about the churn happening in society. It is indeed a welcome change that must be sustained at all costs.

QUICK TAKE

KEEPING THE SKIES SAFE

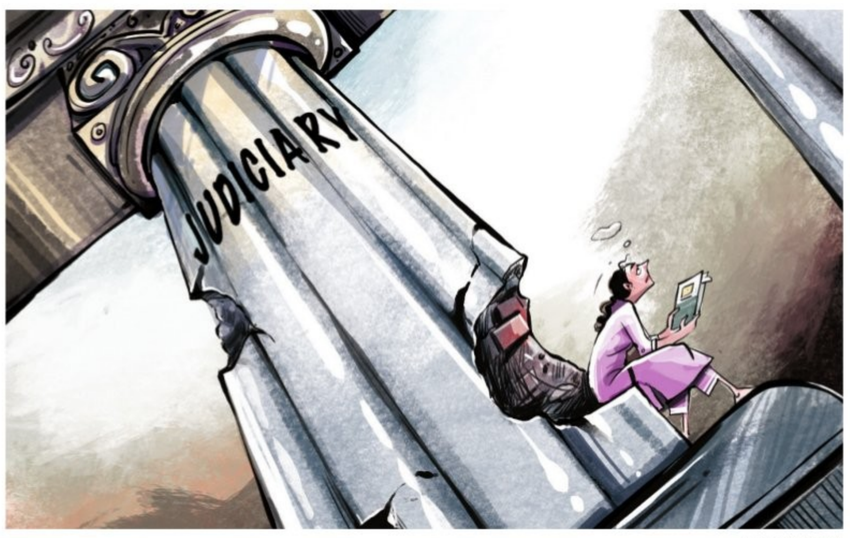
AFTER six decades of valiant service, a warhorse has been put to pasture. The Russian-designed MiG21 aircraft—which once accounted for two-thirds of India's fighter jets—were retired Friday. They won us wars and the air force procured 872 of them between 1966 and 1980. However, they also became known as 'flying coffins', having been involved in 482 crashes between 1971 and 2012, claiming 171 pilots and 39 civilians. Now that the country's squadron strength has dipped below 70 percent of the sanctioned level, the focus shifts to alternatives. India's neighbourhood has rarely been as volatile in recent years as at present. The government needs to assure the nation that our skies are safe—with home-grown or imported birds.

The POSH Act's time limit to file a complaint needs to be expanded. But the Supreme Court's order to include an unproven sexual harassment charge on a vice-chancellor's résumé is baffling

THE TROUBLE WITH NAILING UNPROVEN OFFENCES TO A NAME

SUPRIYA CHAUDHURI
Professor Emerita, Jadavpur University



MANDAR PARDIKAR

PROTESTS by students at Kolkata's National University of Juridical Sciences, against their Vice-Chancellor Nirmal Kanti Chakrabarti, recently took the novel form of standing during lectures, for over five hours a day. The protestors allege years of silence, frustration and disappointment at "lack of financial transparency, systematic patterns of administrative failures, persistent apathy and growing disconnect between the administration and its students and faculty members".

These are grave charges, but they should not deflect attention from the extraordinary perturbing observations made by the Supreme Court while dismissing the appeal of a faculty member who had brought charges of sexual harassment against the same vice-chancellor. On September 12, the court noted that the appellant's original complaint, made in December 2023—more than six months after incidents occurring up to April that year—was time-barred and therefore could not be heard or investigated. Nevertheless, they directed that although "the wrong committed against the appellant may not be investigated on technical grounds, it must not be forgotten", and that it should be allowed to "haunt the wrongdoer forever" by being mandatorily included in his résumé.

What is most surprising about this judgement, quite apart from its Shakespearean, even Biblical, invocation of being 'haunted' by a historical crime, is the use of the term 'wrongdoer'. Under the rigid provisions of the POSH Act, 2013, any complaint of sexual harassment must be made within three months of the latest incident, extensible by another three months. Since the original complaint against Chakrabarti was made nearly eight months after the last reported incident of sexual harassment, it was time-barred and never investigated, though the complainant alleged further intimidation and persecution through removal from an administrative post on August 29, 2023.

The Supreme Court concurred with the opinion of the local complaint committee as well as a division bench of the Calcutta High Court that the original complaint was belated and therefore could not be examined on merit, and that the removal of the appellant from a post was not an independent action solely on the vice-chancellor's part.

If the case has never been heard on merit, how is the Supreme Court justified in using the term 'wrongdoer' and directing that the complaint be forever attached to his résumé? Surely it was the responsibility of the highest court of the land, especially when it was so anxious to adhere strictly to the provisions of the POSH Act, to establish guilt before using a term that really has only one meaning? This is not justice, nor does it help women in their struggle for workplace rights, and a safe and healthy working environment.

As Jhuma Sen, faculty at NUJS, points out in a recent article, the issue here is twofold. On the one hand, there is the extremely disquieting order to include the complaint in the accused person's dossier in perpetuity, though it was never investigated. On the other hand, it is clear that the principal reason for this failure lies in the stringent provisions of the POSH Act, stipulating a window of only 3-6 months within which a complaint must be lodged.

As everyone associated in any capacity with struggles for gender justice knows, survivors often face grave difficulties in bringing cases to light, and sometimes years go by before they are able to speak out against their harassers. This was the rationale behind a Bill introduced in the Rajya Sabha on February 2, 2024 by Sasmit Patra, urging reform of the POSH Act by fixing the basic period for filing complaints at one year, further extendable without any upper limit, by the internal or local committee if they are satisfied that circumstances prevented the complainant from filing earlier. Additionally, the Bill proposed that the provision for 'conciliation' be deleted in its entirety. This proposed reform, 10 years after the original POSH Act, drew attention to its many deficiencies and inadequate enforcement.

Given the climate of delay, neglect and even open hostility towards complaints of sexual harassment in the public sphere, it is quite clear that 'due process', a term arousing strong feelings within the feminist movement, has been denied to both the accuser and the accused. Maybe this explains the Supreme Court's extraordinary invocation of 'haunting' by the spectre of unproven guilt?

We may recall that the #MeToo movement, gathering force around 2017, had given voice and agency to survivors of sexual violence, and the crowdsourced 'List of Sexual Harassers in Academia' (LoSHA) was produced as a cautionary guide to women in institutional spaces. Here, too, 'due process' had sometimes been attempted and failed. But the real point of the #MeToo movement was its testamentary character, its claim to offer a platform to those who had, by their own account, suffered grievous wrongs.

Many feminists had supported #MeToo, although some came out strongly against the anonymised character of LoSHA, where the harassers were listed but the exact circumstances of their offences and names of their accusers were suppressed. Neither was a basis for legal redress. Rather, both drew attention to the magnitude of the problem, and in some cases, survivors did fight cases through courts (as in the notorious Harvey Weinstein trial and the criminal defamation case brought by ex-minister M J Akbar against journalist Priya Ramani).

However, there is a huge difference between survivors making complaints that cannot, for one reason or another, be investigated on merit, and the Supreme Court attaching the label 'wrongdoer' to an accused against whom charges were never examined, far less proven.

The well-known feminist Judith Butler recently addressed an open letter to UC Berkeley, on the Kafkaesque inclusion of her name in a list (sent to the federal US administration) of persons charged with anti-semitism, though she was never informed of the charges.

The situation in India today is far graver and possibly more Kafkaesque. Activists like Umar Khalid and Gulfisha Fatima, accused of unproven offences for which charges were never framed, languish indefinitely in prison, while Gurmeet Ram Rahim, convicted of grave sexual crimes, is allowed out on parole. It seems as though we are moving towards a lawless state where accusations linger forever to haunt the accused, while every legal mechanism is obstructed and denied.

TRAINSPOTTING IN HINTERLAND

MADHAVAN NARAYANAN
Senior journalist

REVERSE SWING

NOT all those who wander are lost"—this line from a J R R Tolkien poem deserves an Indian derivative. Not all those who travel are tourists. We know of family travellers traversing cities, pilgrim packed into buses, and business jet-setters claiming extra legroom. But it's time to look beyond and appreciate a hinterland revolution in motion, thanks to the Indian Railways.

There was a time when second-class train travel was a fancied—and often only—option among India's urban middle-class citizens. Shyam Benegal captured the sentiment evocatively in Yatra, a 15-episode fiction series for Doordarshan in 1986, in an era when both TV viewers and train travellers had no choice beyond what the government offered.

Although India's chequered history of luxury trains dates back to 1934, when the 'ice-cooled' Peshawar Express (later renamed Frontier Mail) was launched, the real journey began in 1969 with the fully air-conditioned Rajdhani Express that connected Howrah with New Delhi. Luxurious train travel gained momentum with the shorter Shatabdi Express routes launched in 1988.

More recently, we have seen the rise of the Vande Bharat Express, some of them with a 'vistadome' variant enabling panoramic views from the seat. The high-speed Mumbai-Ahmedabad Bullet Train is an emerging showpiece, while city metro systems are springing forth across the country. Air-conditioned chair cars have increased comfort, but lowered the romance of rugged travel in which co-passengers used to become friends, at least grudgingly during the journey.

These thoughts flooded in as I mulled over a reverse swing in India's glorious railway system that has almost gone unnoticed, when I saw a government ad about the Prime Minister flagging off two Amrit Bharat Express trains before the Bihar elections.

These trains deserve attention partly for bringing back the romance of second-class travel, but with some frills added to suggest a hint of extra comfort. Their speed, design and choice of routes offer a mix of simplicity and luxury to migrant workers seeking fortunes in other parts of the country.

For these passengers from West Bengal, Bihar and Odisha, the states that beckon are Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Maharashtra and Punjab, where employment opportunities are more abundant. The Amrit Bharat Express recognises this by connecting dots on the map that confirm paths of migration connecting high-growth zones with laggard ones. A humble-yet-superfast passport to prosperity.

These trains were commercially launched on New Year's Day 2024. Typically intended to cover journeys of 800 km or more, the Amrit Bharat Express, as the name suggests, is heavenly nectar for seekers. A 4,000-km sleeper coach journey on it may cost as low as ₹1,500, enabling migrants to reach workplaces and travel back home for festivals at a fraction of a month's salary. With promised speeds of 110-130 km per hour, the train can be a catalytic boon featuring LED lights, CCTVs, and access for the disabled.

WIKIMEDIA COMMONS

Amrit Bharat Express trains are enabling a demographic transition by offering low-cost, high-speed travel for job-seeking migrants from the poorer eastern states to the richer ones in south and west. They account for most new non-AC coaches being rolled out

It is socially symbolic of how this revolution has gone largely unnoticed that the Wikipedia page for the Amrit Bharat Express offers bare minimum of information compared to its Vande Bharat counterpart, which links the train's story to railway history going back decades and lists its more than 75 routes.

Official data reveals a lot more about the Amrit Bharat Express's revolutionary character. The government said a few weeks ago that 14 of the 100 approved Amrit Bharat trains are operational and as many as 17,000 non-AC coaches are planned to be inducted into the railways over the next five years, the lion's share of which will go to seat Amrit Bharat passengers.

The total number of passengers travelling by general and unreserved coaches across India more than doubled from 275 crore in 2021-22, when the Covid pandemic was in its last throes, to 651 crore in 2024-25, a two-year surge partly powered up by the Amrit Bharat Express. Overall occupancy during the past two years has been near-full, indicating a strong supply-demand match.

The train's destinations tell their own story. The first Amrit Bharat train was between East Delhi's Anand Vihar terminal and Darbhanga in Bihar. Earlier this month, he flagged off one connecting Jogbani on Bihar-Nepal border with Erode near the bustling textile town of Tiruppur in Tamil Nadu, and Saharsa with Chheharta in Amritsar, close to Punjab's wheatfields that routinely employ Bihari migrants.

Malda in West Bengal and Gomti Nagar in Uttar Pradesh are among the other destinations otherwise dominated by Bihar's Gaya, Motihari and Sitamarhi. Mumbai, Bengaluru, Erode, Amritsar, and suburban Delhi stand at the other end, indicating the pattern of jobs-driven migration. Intermediate stations like Nagpur complete the picture. The routes remind me of migrant Siberian cranes seeking agreeable winter habitats in India.

In terms of rail networks, India ranks fourth in the world after the US, China, and Russia. But in passenger travel, India understandably and undeniably holds the top spot. The Amrit Bharat Express may not match the famous 9,289-km trans-Siberian train route, captured in Doctor Zhivago, Boris Pasternak's novel made into an Oscar-winning film by David Lean. But as an enabler of the world's most populous nation's demographic transition, Amrit Bharat is the kind of travel that would fascinate historians of the future.

In touch with US on H-1B: MEA

Says skilled talent mobility has contributed to innovation, economic growth in both countries

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday said it remains actively engaged with the United States over the H-1B visa program and emphasised that skilled talent mobility has enormously benefitted both the countries.

External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said the Indian government is aware of the recent developments concerning the H-1B visa program in the United States.

"We have seen the notice by the US Department of Homeland Security regarding the proposed rulemaking. I understand that stakeholders, including the industry, have one month to provide their comments," Jaiswal said.

The response comes amid rising concerns after US President Donald Trump recently announced a steep hike in H-1B visa fees raising the cost to $100,000. The sharp increase is expected to significantly affect Indian tech companies and professionals, many of whom rely on the H-1B route for employment and eventual citizenship in the US. Indians make up nearly 70% of all H-1B visa applicants, making this policy shift particularly consequential for India's skilled workforce abroad.

"With regard to H-1B, you are aware that the Ministry and our Embassy in DC have been in active touch with the US Administration. Clarifications/FAQs were issued by the US side subsequent to the new measures," Jaiswal said, and added: "This is still an evolving situation and we remain engaged at various levels."

We have seen the notice by the US Department of Homeland Security regarding the proposed rulemaking. I understand that stakeholders, including the industry, have one month to provide their comments

Randhir Jaiswal, External Affairs Ministry spokesperson

The Department of Homeland Security has opened a public comment period for stakeholders, including industry players, to respond to the proposed regulatory changes. India, meanwhile, reiterated the importance of skilled professional exchanges in strengthening bilateral economic and technological cooperation.

"As we stated earlier, skilled talent mobility and exchanges have contributed enormously to technology development, innovation, economic growth, competitiveness and wealth creation in the United States and India. We would remain engaged with all concerned, including the industry, hoping that these factors receive due consideration," he said.

Jaiswal pointed out that the External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar met with U.S. Secretary of State Marco Rubio on September 22 in New York along with Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal and US Trade Representative Jamieson Greer alongside senior officials.

27 Indians currently serving in Russian Army

The Ministry of External Affairs on Thursday confirmed that 27 Indian nationals are currently serving in the Russian army, amid rising concerns over foreign recruitment in the ongoing Ukraine conflict. MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said the government is in close contact with the families of those involved and is actively monitoring the situation. MEA strongly urged Indian citizens to steer clear of recruitment offers from the Russian military.

Over 2,400 Indian nationals deported

Over 2,400 Indian nationals have been deported from the United States since January this year, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) confirmed on Friday. "Since January, 2,417 Indians have been deported or repatriated from the U.S.," said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal during a weekly press briefing. Responding to questions on the rising number of deportations, Jaiswal reiterated India's firm stance against illegal migration and stressed the need to promote safe and legal mobility.

India hits back at Erdogan's Kashmir remarks at UNGA

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday rejected Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan's comments on Jammu and Kashmir at the United Nations General Assembly and asserted that there is no role for third-party mediation on the issue. In a diplomatic response, India also reaffirmed its support for a UN-based resolution to the Cyprus issue which a longstanding territorial conflict involving Turkey. Cyprus has faced decades-long tensions with Turkey since 1974, when a Greek-backed coup aimed to unite the island with Greece prompted a Turkish military invasion. Although Cyprus's legitimate government was restored, Turkish forces remained, and the island's northeast later declared itself the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus which is a breakaway entity recognised only by Turkey.

Speaking at the UN General Assembly, President Erdogan said Turkey was "pleased" with the ceasefire between India and Pakistan and urged for the Kashmir issue to be resolved "on the basis of UN resolutions." This was not Erdogan's first foray into the matter, he had previously voiced similar views during a visit to Islamabad, drawing strong objections from New Delhi. "We reject such objectionable comments on matters that are internal to India," said Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal.

"Our position on Kashmir has been completely clear for the past 10 years — there is no change. There is also no need for any third-party mediation on issues between India and Pakistan," he added, confirming that a formal protest had been lodged with the Turkish ambassador. In what is being seen as a diplomatic tit-for-tat, India used the sidelines of the UNGA to reiterate its backing for Cyprus, which has been partially occupied by Turkey since 1974.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar met his Cypriot counterpart Constantinos Kombos in New York and reaffirmed New Delhi's commitment to resolving the Cyprus issue within the framework of the United Nations. "Reaffirmed support for a comprehensive and lasting settlement of the Cyprus Question in accordance with the agreed UN framework and the relevant UNSC resolutions," Jaishankar posted on X. Answering a question on the forthcoming parliamentary elections in Bangladesh, Jaiswal said: "On the parliamentary elections scheduled to be held in February 2026 in Bangladesh, we have repeatedly underlined our expectation of a smooth and peaceful democratic transition through free, fair, credible and inclusive elections in the country."

NCERT allowed to issue Class X and XII certificates equivalent to boards

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

THE Centre has entrusted the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) with the responsibility of granting certificates equivalent to that of the Secondary (Class 10) and Senior Secondary (Class 12 certificates awarded by various School Education Boards in India, officials said on Friday.

This is aimed at facilitating smooth inter school education board migrations, they added.

An official release from the Education Ministry said, "This responsibility will be exercised for the purpose of admission of students to higher education institutions and employment under the Central Government, State Governments and Union Territories."

It said the notification was published in the e-Gazette on September 6, 2025 by the Department of School Education and Literacy under the Education Ministry.

The direction supersedes its earlier one dated November 15, 2021, wherein the Association of Indian Universities (AIU) was entrusted with this responsibility," it added.

Under the new arrangement, NCERT will discharge its responsibility through the National Assessment Centre, Performance Assessment, Review and Analysis of Knowledge for Holistic Development (PARAKH), which has been established as per the provisions of the National Education Policy 2020, the Ministry said.

"This institutional mechanism will ensure that equivalence determination is conducted through a robust and academically rigorous process that maintains the highest educational standards," it added.

New system applies to govt, private boards

The new system applies to Central Government, State Government and private Indian School Boards established by an Act of Parliament or State legislature, executive orders of the Central Government or State Governments, or by statutory bodies and recognised institutions having the mandate to establish school boards.

The new system applies to Central Government, State Government and private Indian School Boards established by an Act of Parliament or State legislature, executive orders of the Central Government or State Governments, or by statutory bodies and recognised institutions having the mandate to do so.

"The notification ensures that the equivalence granted by NCERT shall automatically be considered as inter-se parity between the Boards in India, thereby facilitating smooth inter-School Education Board migrations for students across the country," the statement said.

ICMR on notice over cancer-causing chemicals

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE National Green Tribunal (NGT) has directed the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) to expedite its research on cancer-causing chemicals found in cars. The ICMR informed the tribunal that the study will take 18 months to complete and require a budget of over ₹85 lakh.

The NGT had registered a case in 2024 after a study revealed that 99% of cars contained a flame retardant known as TCIPP, which is being investigated by the US National Toxicology Program as a potential carcinogen.

The study highlighted the health risks associated with exposure to flame-retardant chemicals inside vehicles, particularly for drivers and child passengers, linking them to neurological and reproductive harm. Additionally, a study published in Environmental Science & Technology in May 2024 confirmed the presence of cancer-causing chemicals in cars.

The ICMR has submitted an additional affidavit on July 22, stating that a detailed scientific study has been proposed through the ICMR-National Institute of Occupational Health (Ahmedabad). The study will involve the collection and analysis of biological samples from drivers to assess health risks due to exposure to flame-retardant chemicals. "The research will employ a zone-stratified biomonitoring approach and is expected to take approximately 18 months to complete, encompassing recruitment, sampling, laboratory testing, analysis, and reporting," the ICR affidavit said. "The total budget for the project is ₹85.33 lakh, and an additional nine months were required to obtain necessary financial approvals," it said.

During the hearing, ICMR scientist Sivaperumal informed the tribunal that approval has been granted, and the study will commence within a week.

EARLIER REPORTS FOUND FLAME RETARDANT TCIPP (POTENTIAL CARCINOGEN) IN 99% CARS
Highlights the health risks associated with exposure to flame-retardant chemicals inside vehicles, particularly for drivers and child passengers, linking them to neurological and reproductive harm

The researchers analysed the cabin air of 101 electric, gas and hybrid cars with a model year between 2015 and 2022. It was found that 99% of cars contained a flame retardant called TCIPP, which is under investigation by the US National Toxicology Program as a potential carcinogen. Most cars also had two more flame retardants, TDCIPP and TCEP, which are considered carcinogenic.

These flame retardants are linked to neurological and reproductive harms as well. The study states that since an average driver spends about an hour in the car every day, this is a significant public health issue. This is particularly concerning for drivers with longer commutes as well as child passengers, who breathe more air than adults. According to the study, the levels of toxic flame retardants were highest in the summer as heat increases the release of the chemicals.

The NGT noted that researchers found the seat foam as the source of the cancer-causing compounds in the cabin air. Car manufacturers add the chemicals to seat foam and other materials to meet a flammability standard with no proven fire-safety benefit. "Filling products with these harmful chemicals does little to prevent fires and instead makes the blazes smokier and more toxic," the study says.

International travels pick pace in Aug, up 7%

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

AIRPORTS across the country recorded 3.3 crore passengers in August 2025, marking a one percent increase from the 3.27 crore passengers who flew during the same period last year.

Despite a negative growth domestically, international traffic has driven air passenger growth across the country, reveals the Airports Authority of India (AAI). The Air Traffic Report, made public by AAI on Thursday, reveals that 66,73,252 flyers opted to travel abroad last month, marking a 7.7% increase over the 61,93,449 flyers recorded during the same month in 2024.

A total of 2,64,06,660 passengers travelled domestically in August 2025 as compared to 2,65,48,845 in the corresponding period last year, marking a slight dip of 0.5% (zero point 5). The Air Traffic Movements (Arrival and Departures) reveal a 1.5% dip with 2,54,440 ATMs in August 2025 versus 2,58,310 in August 2024.

A similar comparison of the patronage registered in the first five months of the ongoing financial year reveals a 3.4% increase in overall passenger count over the previous year-- 17.03 crore flyers versus 16.47 crore flyers. Yet again, international patronage has seen an increase of 6.8% while domestic passengers have gone up by 2.6% in April –August this year versus same period last year.

REGIONWISE INTERNATIONAL GROWTH

| REGION | PASSENGERS | GROWTH/DIP* |
|---|---|---|
| Southern | 29,63,405 | 16.1% |
| Western | 16,05,266 | 9.2% |
| North East | 4,866 | -21.5% |
| Eastern | 1,84,349 | -3.4% |
| Northern | 19,15,366 | -2.9% |

*over Aug 2024

Max growth in intl flyers in Aug '25 Pune airport has recorded the maxiumum growth of 80.7% in international passengers in August 2025 (24,303 flyers) over August 2024. The other airports which have registered commendable growth in international traffic are Coimbatore with a 48% increase (28,990 passangers), Surat with 41% increase (15,442) Mangaluru 40.2% (72,849) and Bagdogra 37.5% increase (1877 flyers). Guwahati and Chandigarh airports have dropped more than 20% of their passenger recorded during the compared period last year.

AAI & ICAO sign project to review height restrictions

The Airports Authority of India (AAI) and the International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO) have signed a significant Project Document to review India's national regulations on height restrictions around aerodromes, marking a key step in strengthening the country's aviation safety framework.

NHAI revises guidelines for signboards on highways

The NHAI has updated its signboard guidelines, making roadside boards more informative and user-friendly. These boards will display details of at least 20 essential services and include QR codes for digital access to the most up-to-date information.

Domestically, the airports that have recorded a substantial increase in August this year over the figures recorded in the same month in 2024 are: Kishangarh 93.1% (11,277 psgrs), Jaisalmer 91.2% (64), Dharbanga 87.4% (66,826), Agatti 66.3% (8725), Guwahati 63.1% 727500), Tiruchirappali 56% increase, Cudappah 55.6% (426), Tuticorin 54.8% (29788) and Agra 43.5% (17496).

NMC rejecting patients' appeals on medical negligence, under govt lens

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

WITH hundreds of complaints of medical negligence and misconduct against doctors being rejected by the ethics board of the National Medical Commission (NMC) in the past five years, the Union Health Ministry has decided to examine the issue, an RTI has revealed.

The ministry will examine the issue in consultation with the NMC, a statutory body that regulates medical education, medical professionals, institutions, and research.

Till June, appeals of as many as 162 patients against doctors for medical negligence and misconduct were rejected by the NMC's Ethics and Medical Registration Board (EMRB), which regulates professional conduct and promotes medical ethics.

The ministry's decision to consult NMC came after RTI activist Dr KV Babu pointed out that the government was being "misled" by the Commission on the issue. He flagged the issue after Anupriya Patel, Minister of State in the Union Health and Family Welfare Ministry, in a parliamentary reply on July 22, stated that no report had been received by the ministry regarding the NMC's lack of transparency and bias at the expense of patients.

However, Dr Babu said the NMC clearly misled the ministry when it denied that doctors are being favoured, as the ministry had sought its response to a parliamentary question.

"I had written to NMC's ethics committee on the issue on June 22, 2025. I had also communicated with the ministry in July 2022 regarding bias against patients. But still NMC responded to the query from the ministry on July 18 that no reports have been received in the Ethics Division of NMC," Dr Babu told this paper.

After the minister's response in Parliament, Dr Babu shot another RTI, pointing out that NMC was misleading the ministry and the House.

Responding to his RTI, the Union Health Ministry, in its September 19 response, said, "With reference to your representation, it is informed that the matter is being examined in consultation with NMC as per statutory provisions."

"It is clear from the documents availed using RTI that NMC clearly misled the ministry and Parliament regarding the right to appeal by patients. They are still rejecting appeals to the EMRB against State Medical Councils (SMC) decisions even after parliament's reply in July. It has been five years on September 25 since NMC took office. Since then, it has been rejecting the appeals from patients illegally," he added.

Modi transfers ₹10K each to 75L women to support self-employment ● She adds Rahul wants power through fight for justice not 'vote chori'

Make sure no RJD return to power: PM to women...

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday appealed to the women in poll-bound Bihar to ensure that the RJD and its allies do not return to power, citing the hardships faced by women during their previous rules in the state.

Modi made the remarks while virtually launching the Mukhya Mantri Mahila Rojgar Yojana, under which 75 lakh women in Bihar received ₹10,000 each to support self-employment and livelihood activities. Describing him and Chief Minister Nitish Kumar as the "two brothers" working together for the prosperity and dignity of the women of the state, the PM said,

"When women progress, the entire society moves forward. When a government places women at the centre of its policies, the benefits extend to all sections of society." He highlighted the transformative impact of Ujjwala Yojana and other such initiatives . "When a scheme aimed at empowering women is effectively implemented on the ground, it brings positive change not just for women, but for the whole community," he added.

Asking women to recall the days of the RJD rule, the PM said, "Remember the days when Bihar's roads were broken and bridges were non-existent. Mothers and sisters suffered the most." Modi said that no household was safe during that period and Naxalite violence was unchecked.

"When RJD was in power in Bihar, there was rule of lantern. The women of Bihar suffered the most due to anarchy and corruption," the PM said. Asserting that law and order has been restored in Bihar in the NDA rule under the leadership of Nitish Kumar, Modi said women had been the primary beneficiaries of this change. "Daughters in Bihar now step out of their homes without fear and can work even late at night," the PM said, expressing satisfaction at witnessing large deployment of women police personnel during his visits to Bihar.

The PM asserted that 75 lakh beneficiaries of the scheme would receive an additional ₹2 lakh each and training for improvement in entrepreneurial skills. Lauding the new scheme, he said it was an important step taken by the Nitish Kumar government for Bihar's women.

Ensure two-thirds majority, Shah tells party workers

Union Home Minister Amit Shah, who is on a two-day visit to Bihar, on Friday exhorted senior BJP leaders to go all out to ensure that the NDA secures a two-thirds majority in the upcoming Assembly polls. Shah made the remarks while interacting with party workers and leaders, such as BJP national general secretary BL Santosh and Union minister Dharmendra Pradhan, in West Champaran's Bettiah. He is likely to hold more meetings to discuss the election strategy.

... Priyanka debunks Modi outreach, says 'poll move'

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

TAKING a jibe at PM Narendra Modi for offering ₹10,000 each to 75 lakh women under the Bihar Mukhyamanti Mahila Rojgar Yojna, Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Friday said the scheme is aimed at wooing women voters and it will be stopped once the elections are over.

"This is another ploy of PM Modi and JD(U)'s Nitish Kumar to buy votes of women ahead of Bihar elections," she said, addressing a rally in Motihari, district headquarters of East Champaran. "Why they (BJP-JD(U) are giving money just before the elections, it is obviously your votes. Be alert about their gameplan.

Avail benefit of the scheme and then vote with your wisdom, vote for the future of your children and the state's development," she said.

Citing the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) report tabled in the assembly, Priyanka accused the BJP-JD(U) alliance of siphoning ₹70,000 crore meant for development and welfare. Referring to poor quality of works undertaken during 20-year NDA regime, she said 27 bridges collapsed in Bihar in just three years.

"This is testimony to the quality of work undertaken during NDA rule, which has failed in the state on all fronts," she added.

The Congress leader said Modi had promised revival of sugar mills in Champaran but that still has not been fulfilled. "Initially, PM Modi and BJP tried to win polls by diving people on religious lines, raising issue of terrorism and now they are raising the issue of infiltration to win elections," she said.

Describing her brother and leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi as a true patriot, Priyanka said. "Only a true patriot can feel sufferings of people and sort them out. A true patriot can undertake 4000-km yatra to know problems faced by the poor, Dalits, Extremely Backward Classes (EBCs), backward communities and minorities. Rahul ji is fighting to save the Constitution, which guarantees your rights, including voting rights," she said.

Reminding people of sacrifices of forefathers and of the Gandhi family, she said, "Rahul Gandhi doesn't want to come to power through 'vote chori' but with his fight for justice to people."

Highlights Cong's poll promises aimed at welfare

Priyanka Gandhi highlighted the poll promises made by Congress and its allies. She elaborated benefits of schemes like Mai Bahin Samman Yojna, financial assistance of ₹2 lakh, ₹2,500 monthly pension for widows, aged people and people with disabilities with an increase of ₹200 per year. She said vacant posts in government departments will be filled if Congress-RJD led alliance comes to power in Bihar. "Bihar is among states where unemployment is at the peak," she rued.

Nitish attacks Lalu's dynastic politics

Chief Minister Nitish Kumar never misses the opportunity to attack RJD chief and his predecessor, Lalu Prasad, during his election meetings. This time, without mentioning Lalu's name, Nitish says that during the RJD's rule, Lalu cared only for his family and not for the people of Bihar. He referred to the time when the RJD supremo stepped down after his involvement in the fodder scam cases and appointed his wife, Rabri Devi, as chief minister, rather than handing over the reins to a dedicated and deserving party worker.

RK Singh bats for Kshatriya community

Former Union Minister and BJP leader R.K. Singh has created a flutter in political circles for his recent remarks, urging members of the Kshatriya community to vote only for those who give them in the upcoming Bihar assembly elections. He rued the 'fragmented' representation of the Kshatriya community across the political spectrum and called out his own party, the BJP, over the under-representation of the caste. He said that he had no "shame in speaking out even against his own party". His outburst against BJP leaders, including Deputy Chief Minister Samrat Choudhary and state unit chief Dilip Jaiswal, has promoted rumours that he may plan to float a new party.

Tej Pratap's new adventurism

Expelled RJD leader Tej Pratap Yadav has announced his new party, Janshakti Janata Dal. Neither his father, Lalu Prasad, nor his mother, Rabri Devi, is featured in the recently released official poster. Instead, there are five pictures at the top of the poster: Mahatma Gandhi, B.R. Ambedkar, Ram Manohar Lohia, Jayaprakash Narayan, and JananayakKarpuri Thakur. He, however, described himself as a true follower of his father, a socialist credited with giving voice to the downtrodden in Bihar.

BPF to emerge single largest party in BTC

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Bodoland People's Front (BPF) is set to emerge as the single largest party in Assam's Bodoland Territorial Council (BTC) elections, the counting of votes of which was under way at the time of going to press.

According to latest reports, the BPF was leading in 21 of the autonomous council's 40 seats, United People's Party Liberal (UPPL) in 11 and BJP in eight. The results are expected later tonight or Saturday.

The BTC, currently ruled by the BJP-UPPL combine, went to polls on September 22. The council administers the five districts of Kokrajhar, Chirang, Baksa, Tamulpur and Udalguri. Led by former rebel leader-turned-politician Hagrama Mohilary, the BPF was in power for 15 years until being ousted in the 2020 elections.

Now, the BPF will look to secure a simple majority with at least 21 seats and thereby, avoid reliance on another party for the formation of the next government. In the event of a hung House, the BJP might forge an alliance either with the BPF or with the UPPL. Despite being in power with the UPPL, the BJP had not forged a pre-poll alliance with the Pramod Boro-led party.

No reshuffle as Gujarat BJP plays safe ahead of local polls

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

SPECULATIONS of a Gujarat cabinet reshuffle and the appointment of a new BJP state chief have been dismissed, with the party high command making it clear there will be no immediate changes in the government or the organisation. Despite internal lobbying and rising ambitions among BJP leaders, the leadership has decided to maintain the status quo until the local body elections are over.

Union Minister CR Patil laughed off the rumours, saying, "We will tell you if it happens—we won't do it without informing you." The speculation of a cabinet expansion thus fizzled out, with top BJP also sources confirming no shake-up is planned. Rumours had grown after Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel's recent visit to New Delhi, sparking talk of new faces in the cabinet and a change in the state BJP presidency. The party high command, however, has opted for caution, preferring stability over risk ahead of the local polls.

Bhupendra Patel, who has completed four years as chief minister, will continue with the current team. Party insiders said that leadership changes or ministerial appointments could create discontent among sidelined MLAs—a risk the BJP cannot afford, given that local elections are approaching and assembly polls are set for 2027.

For weeks, speculation suggested a reshuffle between Navratri and Diwali, along with a new state BJP president. Adding fuel to the rumours, state president and Union Minister CR Patil had hinted that new members might be added to the cabinet and jokingly said ministers "should pray to God".

Ambitions remain high within the party. Congress turncoats, such as Arjun Modhwadia, CJ Chavda, Hardik Patel, and Alpesh Thakor, who reportedly joined the BJP on the promise of ministerial berths, are lobbying hard. Currently, seven posts are vacant in the ministry.

Fresh probe into BJP MLA's land grab case ordered

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

SURAT BJP MLA Pravin Ghoghari faces renewed legal trouble as a Surat court has rejected CID Crime's attempt to close the multi-crore Godadara land scam case and ordered further investigation.

The case dates back to 2017 when complainant Ushaben GopalbhaiLadnawali filed an FIR, accusing Ghoghari and others of illegally taking over 6,604 sq. m. of unsold land in Godadara using forged documents, fake affidavits, and manipulated power of attorney papers. CID Crime had filed a 'C-Summary' claiming no evidence against Ghoghari, but the court found serious gaps, including missing forensic checks on signatures and suspicious land records.

The court also questioned why officials cleared Ghoghari based on a single notary signature and ordered fresh questioning of him and 13 others.

Fadnavis meets Modi, seeks financial help for Maha rain-hit farmers

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis met Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday to seek help for farmers who have suffered major losses due to heavy rains.The Centre will send a team to Maharashtra to assess the damage. Based on their report, the Union government is likely to announce a relief package for farmers.

Later, Fadnavis said he handed over a memorandum to the Prime Minister on the situation in Maharashtra. "The Prime Minister asked the state government to send a proposal in this regard, which will be considered constructively," the Chief Minister said.

When asked about the opposition's demand to waive farm loans, Fadnavis said the BJP manifesto includes a loan waiver for farmers, and the government is focusing on making it more effective. "We have set up the committee and that will decide on the loan waiver. A loan waiver cannot be done time and again, so the focus will be on how to make it more effective by addressing loopholes. Our focus will be in its proper implementation," he said.

He added that loans taken for the kharif crop will have to be repaid next year. "The immediate concern of the farmers is help in their accounts. So, it will be our priority to extend this help," Fadnavis said. More than 65 lakh acres of crops were damaged in Maharashtra, which bore the brunt of the heavy rains.

Besides discussing relief, Fadnavis presented the Maharashtra Defence Corridor plan to the Prime Minister, which aims to boost defence manufacturing, generate jobs, and create opportunities. The corridor will be developed at three locations in the state. He also discussed the roadmap for steel manufacturing in Maharashtra.

End of legacy as mighty MiG-21s go into sunset

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AS the sun shone bright, the mighty MiG-21 of the IAF soared through the endless blue skies for the last time on Friday. This iconic supersonic fighter jet, which has been the backbone of the country's air power for over six decades, leaves behind an enduring legacy and countless stories.

Air Chief Marshal A P Singh flew the sortie of the Soviet origin warhorse. The culmination of MiG-21 operations took place with a ceremonial fly past and decommissioning ceremony at the Chandigarh Air Force Station, marking the closure of a historic chapter in the country's air power. Dilbagh Singh, who became the IAF chief in 1981, led the first MiG-21 Squadron here in 1963.

Among the pilots to fly the MiG-21 on Friday was Squadron Leader Priya Sharma, leaving her name in the annals of aviation history as the last woman fighter pilot to have flown the aircraft one final time.

The ceremony featured a series of aerial displays, including a skydiving demonstration by Akash Ganga, formation take-offs by MiG-21s, the Badal and Panther formations, and precision drill movements by the air warrior drill team.

The Surya Kiran aerobatic team also enthralled the audience with their breathtaking manoeuvres and also a symbolic flypast showcasing Jaguars and MiG-21s in a recreation of Combat Air Patrol.

A joint MiG-21 and LCA Tejas flypast highlighted the transition from the legendary Bison to the indigenous Tejas. The aircraft document – Form-700 – was handed over to the Chief of Air Staff by officers and airmen of Squadron No. 23 and the commanding officer of Squadron No. 28.

Describing the fighter jets as a mighty machine and a national pride, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said that MiG-21 is not only an aircraft or a machine but a national pride and a testimony to the deep ties between India and Russia.

Noting the unmatched journey of MiG-21 which was inducted into the Air Force in 1963, Singh said, "The mighty machine picked up the burden of the country's security on its wings for decades, and shaped our confidence and strengthened our strategy."

Singh underscored the special significance of Chandigarh as the venue for the decommissioning ceremony, stating that it was the same place where India's supersonic journey began with the induction of MiG-21 into the No. 28 Squadron.

Shux remembers the 'backbone of the Air Force'

Group Captain and astronaut Shubhanshu Shukla, who flew the MiG-21 fighter jet between 2007 and 2017, said it has been the backbone of the Air Force for a long time. He mused, "It feels bit sad to see the aircraft flying its last sortie. But I feel happy to see that a lot of people who have flown this aircraft have turned up for this event."

Bareilly on boil as police, locals fight pitched battle over Prophet posters

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE controversy kicked up over "I Love Mohammad" poster from Kanpur last week is far from over with tensions flaring up in Bareilly after the slogan sparked outrage. Following Friday prayers, a large crowd gathered at Islamia Ground, demanding to protest. Police attempted to prevent entry of the protestors but the crowd insisted on marching, chanting religious slogans.

The unrest spread across three police station areas, including Sadar Kotwali, Premnagar, and Baradari where the protestors attacked the police contingent with stones and the police had to resort to mild force to disperse the crowd. Stone-pelting continued from rooftops and windows, escalating tensions in the communally sensitive city.

As chaos escalated, police reinforcements from adjoining districts including Shahjahanpur, Badaun, Pilibhit, Moradabad, Rampur, Amroha, Sambhal, and Bijnor arrived. Authorities urged residents to stay indoors while officers maintained a strong presence on the streets conducting flag march.

The situation escalated quickly again as people began pelting stones at police personnel. Authorities resorted to lathi charge and fired tear gas shells to control the mob. In Shahmat Ganj, protesters blocked roads and forced markets to close temporarily. Eyewitnesses described chaos, with people running in all directions as police tried to disperse them.

Police detained Maulana Tauqeer Raza, president of the Ittehad-e-Millat Council (IMC), who had called for the protest.

IT, pharma stocks drag mkt for 6 sessions

US tariff woes, visa curb, foreign fund outflows overshadow positive domestic cues such as GST reform, GDP data

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

WEIGHED down by renewed US visa curbs, fresh tariff measures and relentless foreign fund outflows, India's equity market slumped on Friday, marking a sixth straight session of losses. IT stocks have been reeling since Washington raised the H-1B visa application fee to $100,000 per applicant and pressure has now spilled over to the pharma sector after the US imposed tariffs on branded drugs.

The benchmark index BSE Sensex fell 733.22 points or 0.9% to settle at 80,426.46 on Friday while the Nifty dropped 236.15 points or 0.95% to settle at 24,654.70. Since September 19, the Sensex has lost 2,587 points or 3.16%, while the Nifty has declined 769 points or 3%.

The broader markets underperformed, with Nifty Midcap100 and Smallcap100 down over 2% each on Friday. The sharp decline over the past six sessions has made investors poor by ₹15.63 lakh crore as the market capitalisation of all BSE-listed companies has come down from ₹466.89 lakh crore on September 19 to ₹451.25 lakh crore on Friday.

The pessimism in the market has completely overshadowed positive domestic cues such as GST reform and gross domestic product (GDP) which grew 7.8% in Q1 (April-June) of FY26, marking a five-quarter high.

"The IT index came under early pressure amid concerns over rising H-1B visa costs, compounded by Accenture's subdued outlook. Sentiment weakened further as fresh U.S. tariffs on pharmaceutical products led to a sharp sell-off in pharma counters. Mid- and small-cap stocks corrected more sharply than large caps, reflecting stress from their stretched valuations," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Investments Limited.

Nair stated that the rupee continued to weaken, weighed down by ongoing foreign institutional investors (FIIs) outflows and heightened geopolitical risks stemming from United States trade actions. In contrast, gold sustained its appeal as a safe-haven asset, supported by global trade tensions, a depreciating rupee, steady central bank purchases, and uncertainty over the Fed's policy path. Gold prices traded firm at ₹1,14,000 on Friday while the rupee maintained levels above its record low of 88.7975 versus the US dollar.

Shares of top pharma companies decline between 4 and 7% on Friday after United States President Trump announced a 100% tariff on imports of branded or patented drugs from October 1st, unless the manufacturer is setting up a production facility.

FII SELLING THIS WEEK

At the end of last week's trading session (Sept 19), FIIs sold equities worth ₹180,443 crore through the exchanges. Early data states that foreign institutional investors (FIIs) have offloaded about ₹19,550 crore this week

SC upholds JSW Steel's bid for Bhushan Power

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

IN A victory for JSW Steel and the insolvency and resolution process, the Supreme Court on Friday upheld the successful resolution of Bhushan Power and Steel Limited (BPSL) by dismissing a batch of appeals challenging the company's takeover by JSW Steel.

The judgment confirms the final order passed by the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on February 17, 2020, thereby providing finality to the Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) initiated against BPSL.

BPSL was one of the "dirty dozen" large corporate defaulters identified by the RBI in 2017. The insolvency process against the company had started on July 26, 2017.

The court took considerate view that if the appeals were allowed it would have led to 'disastrous results'

"The Corporate debtor (BSPL) in the present case was running into substantial losses, which has now become a profit — making entity, earning substantial profits. The Successful Resolution Applicant (SRA) — JSW — invested huge amounts in modernization and expansion of the entity (Corporate Debtor). Not only that but thousands of employees have been earning their livelihood on account of the Corporate Debtor running as an on-going concern due to the Resolution Plan being implemented by the SRA — JSW," noted the court.

The Court addressed and ruled on several contentious issues raised primarily by the erstwhile promoters and a few Operational Creditors (OCs).

US tariffs unlikely to dent pharma exports for now

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIAN pharma exporters are likely to face minimal impact from the US decision to impose a 100% tariff on patented medicines, as the country's $30 billion-plus pharmaceutical exports are driven by generics. India shipped $10.5 billion worth of drugs to the US in FY25, accounting for 40% of America's generic prescriptions.

According to Aditya Jhaver, director at Crisil Ratings, the replacement risk for Indian generics in the US remains low, given the country's limited local manufacturing capacity. "India delivers significant healthcare savings to the US, with manufacturing costs 35-40% lower than those in the US," he said.

Mankind Pharma chairman Ramesh C Juneja noted that the tariff is likely to have less than a 0.5% impact on Indian exporters. "There are very few companies that send patented products to the US, and most of them already have manufacturing facilities in America," he added.

Still, exporters cautioned that India must remain alert in case complex generics, or even parts of the generic supply chain, come under tariffs or other restrictions in the future. The US Commerce Department is also probing under Section 232 whether pharmaceutical imports—including finished drugs and APIs—pose a national security risk.

Despite a more stringent regulatory regime, Indian drug exports to the US rose 17% in FY25. But experts warned that India's ambition to "move up the value chain" into higher-end patented drugs, biologics, and specialty therapies could be disproportionately hit if Washington's tariff stance hardens.

"The FDA has increased surprise inspections at overseas plants after finding compliance gaps at multiple Indian and Chinese facilities. This has raised compliance costs and the risk of supply disruptions," said Harish Jain, director at Embiotic Laboratories. "But India's cost leadership in generics still provides a buffer against near-term tariff shocks."

India, US continue trade dialogues amid tariff rift

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA-US trade dialogue will continue to remain on track even as the two countries navigate one of their sharpest trade and diplomatic strains in recent times, confirmed the Ministry of Commerce on Friday. The update came after the recent visit of commerce minister Piyush Goyal on September 22.

The ministry confirmed that Goyal had meetings with Ambassador Jamieson Greer, US trade representative and Sergio Gor, US Ambassador designate to India. "Apart from meetings with the US government representatives on bilateral trade matters, the delegation held talks with key US-based businesses and investors on promoting trade and investment between India and the US," stated the release issued by the ministry after visit to the US.

There has been a rift between New Delhi and Washington since the Trump administration imposed steep tariffs on Indian goods in August. Tariffs were raised first by 25% and then by another 25%, effectively, doubling duties to 50%, in retaliation against India's continued oil imports from Russia. New Delhi has described the measures as "unfair and unjustified", arguing that its energy policy is guided by market realities and national interest.

ASIANOMICS

INDONESIA

TO SUBSIDISE LOAN INTEREST FOR SMALL DEVELOPERS

The Indonesian government plans to subsidise some of the interest on loans held by smaller real estate developers in an effort to encourage them to build or renovate properties, the finance ministry said. It was not clear when the government made the document available to the public, but the decree took effect this week. It is aimed at supporting President Prabowo Subianto's programme to build 3 million affordable houses a year and address a supply gap that the country's 280 million people face. The government said it would subsidise 5% of the interest on loans taken out by small-scale developers for up to five years. In addition, the government will cover between 5.5% to 10% of the interest on loans taken out by individuals looking to build or renovate their homes - depending on the loan size - for five years. The scheme only applies to loans for as much as 500 million rupiah (nearly $30,000).

JAPAN

BOJ LIKELY TO HIKE RATES TO 1.5% UNDER UEDA

The Bank of Japan will probably raise its benchmark interest rate at least four more times to 1.5 per cent before Governor Kazuo Ueda's term ends in early 2028, Reuters quoted former central bank board member Makoto Sakurai as saying. Sakurai, who retains close contact with incumbent policymakers, forecast another hike by year-end, two more increases in fiscal 2026, and one or two hikes in the year ending March 2028. The BOJ raised its short-term policy rate to 0.5% in January, but has since kept interest rates steady on the view that more time was needed to scrutinise the impact of U.S. tariffs on the economy. Sakurai said he expects the next hike to come either in October or December. The central bank's quarterly "tankan" business survey - due on October 1 - is among key data that could affect the board's decision.

SOUTH KOREA

BOK RAISES GDP, INFLATION FORECASTS

South Korea's central bank kept its policy rate unchanged at 2.5% for its second straight meeting to assess housing prices in the capital further, after prices had spiked earlier in the year. The move was also in line with expectations of economists polled by Reuters. The Bank of Korea said inflation was stable and economic growth had shown "modest improvement," but warned that housing prices in Seoul and its surrounding areas, along with household debt, needed closer monitoring. The central bank said household loan growth has slowed sharply, but expectations for higher home prices remain strong. The BOK also upgraded its inflation forecast for 2025 to 2% from its May forecast of 1.9%, while the GDP growth forecast for the year was also revised to 0.9% from 0.8% previously. It expects domestic demand to make a "modest recovery," due to a supplementary budget and improvement in consumer sentiment.

INDUSTRIAL HUBS

11 projects to start work by Dec 31: NICDC

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE work for 11 projects out of a total 12 approved under industrial corridor programme will begin by the end of December, confirmed National Industrial Corridor Development Corporation (NICDC) CEO and MD Rajat Kumar Saini on Friday.

The NICDC has set a timeline of 24-30 months for the completion of relatively smaller projects and 36 months for the bigger projects. "We have floated tenders for 10 out of 12. Four tenders have been allotted and EPC contractors have been appointed. Four evaluation is going on in another 10-15 days, another four would be appointed. By November 30, 8 out of 12 work will start. By December 31, 11 out of 12 work will start," said Saini.

The National Industrial Corridor Development Programme (NICDP), anchored by NICDC, is India's flagship push to build modern industrial hubs with advanced infrastructure and seamless multi-modal connectivity. The initiative is designed to strengthen manufacturing competitiveness, draw investments from both large enterprises and smaller players, create jobs, and fast-track economic growth through the development of sustainable, technology-driven smart cities.

The NICDC CEO further confirmed that there has been a significant investors' interest for these industrial parks and they will soon be onboarding a couple of conglomerates from India and abroad who will be the anchor investors.

"In Tumkur township, we have allotted 300 acres for a Japanese industrial township," said the CEO. Primarily, they are trying to get foreign investors to be the anchor investors. However, TATA has been one of the active investors too.

Ready to welcome Adani Group if it renegotiates pricing: SL trade min

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

THE Sri Lankan government will welcome Adani Group as an investor if the company is open to renegotiate the pricing, said the country's commerce minister Wasantha Samarasinghe during an interaction with TNIE at an event organised by PHDCCI on Friday. Adani can also reduce and reconsider the price, he said, adding that "whatever the situation, as a government they think about the investment and its effect on the people and the country."

Adani Green Energy withdrew from a 484 megawatt (MW) wind project in northern Sri Lanka after the government in Sri Lanka wanted to renegotiate the terms of the project in February. Adani Green Energy Ltd had then told Sri Lanka's Board of Investment that it would "respectfully withdraw" from the wind project following discussions with officials who indicated that fresh committees would be formed to "renegotiate the project proposal".

Samarasinghe explained that the bidding price offered by the Adani Group was very high and thus they had conveyed the Group to renegotiate the price. He assured that Sri Lanka will be open to Adani group or any other Indian investors to bid for the projects.

Local reports indicate that the Adani wind power project faced significant opposition within Sri Lanka, primarily due to concerns over the pricing of the agreement. The rate set by the Adani Group was much higher than what local bidders had offered, fueling further criticism of the deal.

The Adani Group has been one of the active investors in Sri Lanka. One of their major projects is the Colombo West International Terminal (CWIT), where the Adani-led consortium began operations in April 2025 and is set to double its capacity ahead of schedule, a significant investment enhancing the port's overall capacity.

According to a statement by Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone, the CWIT project represents an investment of $800 million and features a 1,400-metre quay length and 20-metre depth, enabling the terminal to handle approximately 3.2 million twenty-foot equivalent units annually.

H-1B visa fee hike may cause disruption: Govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Friday said the US imposition of a one-time fee of $100,000 for future H-1B visas may cause disruptions, the impact of which — mainly on groswth of future remittances and service trade surpluses — will need close monitoring if restrictions persist.

Finance ministry in its monthly economic review for August said the US government decision to impose a fee on H1B visa-seekers is a reminder of the risks of trade uncertainties affecting unaffected services sector. "For now, the risks appear manageable, but they are there," said the ministry. The report said the GST rate rationalisation will strengthen domestic demand and cushion the economy against global uncertainties, the ministry said in the report on Friday. The move, which lowers the tax burden on consumers, is likely to spur consumption, improve demand for firms, and encourage fresh investments in capacity expansion, the report said.

Tata Motors announces top management reshuffle

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA MOTORS on Friday announced a top-level management reshuffle as it prepares to demerge its commercial vehicles arm. Group CFO P B Balaji will take over as CEO of Jaguar Land Rover (JLR), while Dhiman Gupta has been elevated as Tata Motors' new CFO effective November 17. Balaji will also remain on the parent company's board as a non-executive, non-independent director.

As part of restructuring, former Tata Motors MD (2016–2021) Guenter Butschek will step down as independent director from October 1 and join the board of the commercial vehicles subsidiary, TML Commercial Vehicles Ltd.

In another change, Girish Wagh, who heads commercial vehicles business, will move out of Tata Motors board to become MD and CEO of TML Commercial Vehicles. Shailesh Chandra, leading the passenger vehicles and EV divisions, has been appointed MD and CEO of Tata Motors Ltd. for a three-year term starting October 1.

'World can't afford to keep Russia off energy mkt'

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

PETROLEUM minister Hardeep Singh Puri on Friday said the world can't afford to keep Russia, the second-largest oil producer pumping out 10.5 million barrel a day, off the energy markets.

The minister said it will shoot up prices beyond common man's reach and bring in all attendant economic problems like inflation, among others. Moreover, he said there is no sanction on Russian oil but only price caps, which has kept fuel prices under control.

"There are no sanctions on purchase of Russian crude oil, and the world will face serious consequences if the supplies are disrupted. The world can't afford to keep Russia off the oil market," Puri told a select group of editors here on Friday. Citing the case of Iran and Venezuela, he said India has always complied with sanctions as a responsible member of the international community.

The comments come at a critical time as the US has slapped a 25% penal charges on India's exports as more than a third of domestic oil demand of 5.8-6 million barrels a day is met by imports from Russia, averaging 2 million barrels a day in August and reports say the volume has likely increased in the current month. The country meets over 85% of energy demand from exports. Speaking with reporters as key negotiations on trade policies continue between the US and India, Puri said Russia is the second-largest supplier of crude globally at about 10.5 million barrels a day, and warned the world will face serious consequences if supplies are disrupted. "Energy is something you can't do without... If you remove second-largest producer, you will have to cut consumption. The consequences are pretty serious," Puri said. This is the reason why the world is not imposing sanctions on Russian oil, the career diplomat-turned-politician said. Puri said there are price caps imposed on buying from Russia and whenever there is any such talk, he asks oil companies under his watch to buy at lower prices.

The third edition of GCL featuring six teams will be held here from December 13 to 24.

India's Tilak Varma plays a shot during the match against Sri Lanka in Dubai on Friday | AFP

MIDDLE ORDER AMONG RUNS AHEAD OF FINAL

Varma, Sanju and Axar get vital exposure as India edge Sri Lanka in Super Over at Dubai

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

WHEN Abhishek Sharma was caught at deep square leg by Kamindu Mendis in the eighth over against Sri Lanka in the Asia Cup Super 4s on Friday, the team management led by head coach Gautam Gambhir might have been thinking on how the middle order would fare, especially after dismissals of the top three including Shubman Gill and skipper Suryakumar Yadav. In India's perfect campaign so far, it was Sharma and Gill who have scored most of India's runs and in two of the five games, played a key role in chasing down the targets. This also meant the middle order did not get enough time in the middle as they would have wanted.

The inconsequential game against Sri Lanka was the perfect opportunity for them to get their much needed gametime and wicketkeeper-batter Sanju Samson along with Tilak Varma made the most of the opportunity by adding 66 runs for the fourth wicket in Dubai — the first fifty or above partnership between two Indian batters where neither Sharma or Gill was involved. Samson departed but Varma along with all-rounder Axar Patel made sure India breach the 200-run mark, a first for any team in the tournament. The only blip could have been Hardik Pandya, who has had a rather inconsistent tournament with the bat so far, as he once again failed to reach the double figures, his third in the event.

Not yet in the 'middle'

| Name | Innings | Runs |

Before Friday's match

1st India-Pak final in 41 yrs

Asia Cup started in 1984 with India winning the inaugural edition held in round-robin format. A look at key numbers of the tournament...

1st India will be playing Pakistan in an Asia Cup final for the first time

17 A total of 17 editions have been played so far including the ongoing one in 41 years of the tournament history

14 editions were held in 50-over format while three including the 2025 event were held in T20 format

8 titles India have won, the most by any team. Sri Lanka won the trophy six times while Pakistan emerged winners twice

Before Friday's match, Suryakumar and Co got to bat 20 overs only twice in their five games — against Oman and Bangladesh — and this might have also contributed to the inconsistency of their middle order.

In their Group A match against Oman, none of the middle order batters could convert their quick starts to big scores. The team management was also flexible in its approach with Axar Patel (26 off 13) coming at No 3 while Varma (29 off 18) walking to the crease at No 7 in that match. Pandya (1 off 1) and Shivam Dube (5 off 8) failed to click then but Samson shrugged off a nervy start to slam 56 off 45 balls. The India skipper, whose highest score is 47 versus Pakistan in the group match on September 14, didn't come out to bat. Going into the final, his form could be a big worry for the team as he was dismissed for 12 on Friday. Overall he has managed 7 not out, 47 not out, 0, 5 and 12 in five innings.

Even in their Super Fours match against Bangladesh, India ended up with an above-par total despite a quick start by their openers. Dismissal of Sharma (75 off just 37 balls) put the brakes on their scoring rate with the team managing only 54 runs from the last eight overs. Pandya's 29-ball 38 helped them reach 168/6 which proved more than enough in the end. Dube was promoted up the order then but he failed to make the most of the opportunity. The southpaw on Friday was replaced with pacer Harshit Rana. With their last Super Fours outing being an inconsequential match, India wanted their middle order batters to get some valuable runs under their belt and that goal seemed to have been achieved with Varma, Samson and Axar playing knocks of significance.

Pathum Nissanka hit a superb century as Sri Lanka scored exactly as same as India (202/5), enforcing a Super Over in the process. Arshdeep came to the fore in the Super Over to guide India home. Brief scores: India 202/5 in 20 ovs (Abhishek 61, Tilak 49 n.o) tied with SL 202/5 in 20 ovs (Nissanka 107, Perera 58; Hardik 1/7). India won in Super Over

The journey of India all-rounder, who is set to play her first ODI World Cup, is as much as her mother's as it is hers. Gomesh S tries to chronicle the Reddy family's tale in the lead-up to the global event

Pride & promise: The story of Bhagya & Arundhati

"THAT... It was very difficult for her to convince me," says Bhagya Reddy after a brief pause and a wry laugh. She is sitting in the living room of her family's dream house on a breezy Thursday evening in Hyderabad, trying to recall one of the pivotal life decisions her daughter and India all-rounder Arundhati Reddy had to make two years ago.

The 2022-23 season was over, and Arundhati had been a part of the Delhi Capitals team that reached the inaugural Women's Premier League final. She had not played for India in almost two years and was not getting regular chances at her domestic team — Railways. At 26, Arundhati found herself at a crossroads with regard to her career and what lies ahead. That is when she decided to take a leap of faith; to resign from her Railways job — one that had been crucial to not just her career but also her financial stability and that of her family — and switch teams in the domestic circuit. Having confided in her brother Rohit, who was getting married in a few months, Arundhati couldn't bring it up with Bhagya.

"She was suffering within herself," Bhagya recalls. "Then, Rohit called me up. He said, 'Amma, I want to talk to you. When you're cool and free, just let me know. This is regarding Shammu (Arundhati's nickname)'. I said, 'What? You first let me know. You're making me panic'. Then he explained, 'It seems she wants to resign, but only if you say yes'. But as a mother, no parent ever thinks that their child is resigning from a government job and taking up cricket full-time (is good) because you don't know where it takes you. Then he added her to the call.

"The way she was crying... (Bhagya pauses). She said, 'Amma, just give me one chance so that in life I will never regret that I have not tried. I promise you, Ma, I will never let you down, just give me one chance. If not this, there are so many other things, but please give me a chance.' Then my son was also convincing me, and at last I said yes (...)."

That conversation in mid-2023 between a daughter and her mother in many ways epitomises their relationship and life. The journey of Arundhati from the streets of Hyderabad as a ten-year-old to playing her first ODI World Cup at home is not hers alone. It is Bhagya's as much as it is Arundhati's. For their is a story of a daughter trying to do everything she can in her life for her mother, and a single parent who has given it all to help her child live the dream she never could.

****

The first time Bhagya heard about Arundhati's talent in cricket was when she had put her son, daughter and nieces and nephews in a school summer camp. By then, the sport had become an obsession for Arundhati. She even used to have a scrapbook filled with pictures of Dale Steyn. A coach at the camp identified the spark in Arundhati and suggested Bhagya put her daughter in a cricket academy. With Arundhati's cousins also echoing the sentiment, Bhagya asked her daughter, who expressed her interest in playing cricket. A state-level volleyball player herself, she wanted to ensure her daughter had a better path laid out than what she had.

ICC WOMEN'S CRICKET WORLD CUP INDIA 2025 — 3 DAYS TO GO

Arundhati Reddy with her mother and brother | SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

However, as a single parent and a school teacher, there were practical challenges. "I know at that time, I was not in a position to put her in the academy. Because our situation was," Bhagya pauses, before adding, "She started her first training at the same academy (St. John's Sports Coaching Foundation) where Mithali Raj started. In the mornings, around 4-5 AM, I would drop her off at the ground. Then, I would bring her back, drop her off at school, and then go back to my school. In the evening again, by the time I would go home, she would be ready. I would take her to training, pick her up after she finishes, then again the next day. I think I was the only mother who was there, and all fathers would be there (at the academy)," says Bhagya.

The hurdles did not stop there. As Arundhati rose up the ranks in age-group and senior Hyderabad team at a very young age, she had attendance issues at school. Once, the school principal argued with Bhagya in front of Arundhati, saying that she was playing with her daughter's life because she is a girl child. Arundhati, scared of teachers and coaches then, had to open up and say that it was her wish, and her mother was just encouraging her. Eventually, Bhagya enrolled her in open schooling from class X despite objections from family members. Though she was afraid and anxious, Bhagya never showed it and instilled all the confidence in her daughter.

Arundhati, too, knew what Bhagya was going through for her, even though they never talked about it. Instead, she tried to give her best on the cricket field, repaying the faith her mother had in her. The rewards came along, and as a result, so did a Railways job offer — the family needed that at the time. "It was very much needed, because financially we were like... I used to always tell her that, financially, first she has to become independent, then she can think about the next step. Those who played with me, like when I was playing, all joined the Railways or postal service, because I didn't get a proper route, I couldn't. Once she joined the Railways, her real growth started..." Soon, her India T20I debut followed. In the years that followed, she went on to play two T20 World Cups before the pandemic broke out.

Throughout the conversation, one of the things that Bhagya keeps going back to is "she never let me down." It seems like an unsaid promise that has been kept between the two over the years. Growing up, Arundhati was not comfortable with her mother coming to watch her play. That was the case even after she played for India. She never talked cricket with Bhagya either, even though she knew her mother was following every step closely. It was only during the WPL that Arundhati's friends and teammates convinced her to invite her.

****

Two years have passed since the Reddy family had that conference call. Arundhati resigned from Railways, shifted to Kerala in domestic cricket with the guidance of former India fielding coach and her mentor Biju George, started training with Arjun Dev at NICE Academy in Bengaluru and put on consistent shows.

Will this be the most competitive World Cup?

GOMESH S @ Bengaluru

AS the captains graced the stage — four in Bengaluru and as many in Colombo, Sri Lanka — at the media day on Friday morning, the one sentiment everyone echoed is how this could be the most tightly fought Women's Cricket World Cup in history.

India skipper Harmanpreet Kaur said that everyone has an equal chance to win while Australia captain Alyssa Healy felt that this could be the most competitive tournament. "I think all the teams have the calibre to play in the finals. So this tournament is something which is going to be very exciting. If you see all the teams, they have the calibre to play and win this tournament. It's very hard to take anybody's name, but I'm really looking forward to this tournament. As I mentioned, every team has a calibre. Every team is very strong and hopefully the best team will win," said Kaur.

> Well, right now our main focus is on our opening game because that is very important. Our main focus is on that because that game is going to set the tone for us. And secondly, all the teams are equally important. We can only control the things we can control.
> —India skipper Harmanpreet Kaur on India-Pakistan match

Healy, dismissing the favourites tag Australia carries, said that for the first time in a while teams are starting on somewhat of an equal footing. "I feel like you have labelled us favourites, so thanks for that. But I don't necessarily think that's the case. I think India in their home conditions are going to be really, really tough to beat, along with a couple of captains sitting alongside. So it doesn't get any easier. Like I mentioned before, I think this ODI World Cup is going to be one of the strongest ones that I have been a part of. As a skipper, I'm really looking forward to that challenge of going out there and competing against some of the best teams in the world," said the Australian.

Sri Lanka's Chamari Athapaththu, Bangladesh skipper Nigar Sultana and Pakistan captain Fatima Sana said that they have realistic goals for finishing the top four and take it from there. Sri Lanka missed the last World Cup after the qualifiers got cancelled due to Covid and Bangladesh will be playing only their second global 50-over event.

Kaur, meanwhile, side-stepped the question on India-Pakistan and the ongoing controversies in the men's T20 Asia Cup. When asked if she feels India should play Pakistan in their second league game, scheduled to play in Colombo on October 5, the Indian captain said their focus lies on the opening game against Sri Lanka on Tuesday.

"Well, right now our main focus is on our opening game because that is very important. Our main focus is on that because that game is going to set the tone for us. And secondly, all the teams are equally important. We can only control the things we can control. We are here to play cricket and our main focus is on cricket. We are not going to entertain anything else on the field because we are here to play cricket and our main focus will remain on cricket only," said Kaur.

India A pull off epic win against Oz A

LUCKNOW: KL Rahul (176 n.o) and B Sai Sudharsan (100) helped India A post a stunning five-wicket win over Australia A while hunting down a target of 413 to seal the two-match unofficial Test series 1-0 here. It was the sixth-highest successful run chase in the country's first-class history, and Rahul's form is a good sign for India ahead of West Indies series.

Indian para athletes seek strong show

NEW DELHI: Some of the globe's best para athletes will showcase their awe-inspiring grit and resilience on the sporting field when the biggest ever World Para Athletics Championships begins here at the JN Stadium on Saturday. The event will run until October 5. The para athletes, numbering over 1500, will compete across 186 medal events.

Jr women's hockey team loses vs Aus

CANBERRA: The Indian junior women's hockey team suffered a 2-3 loss to Australia's U21 side at the National Hockey Centre here. Lalthantluangi (47th minute) and Sonam (54th) were the scorers for India, while Bianca Zurrer (36th), Evie Sransby (45th) and Sammy Love (59th) struck for Australia. The opening half had finished goalless.

Inaugural BFI Cup in Chennai from Oct 1

NEW DELHI: Aimed at providing upcoming boxers a pathway to the national camp, the Boxing Federation of India will conduct the inaugural BFI Cup in Chennai from October 1 to 7. The competition, which is set to be conducted in 10 categories for both men and women, will provide the gold and silver-medallists entry to the elite national camp.

National Open C'ships in Ranchi begins today

AGENCIES @ Ranchi

THE focus will be on the sprinters at the 64th National Open Athletics Championships starting here on Saturday, as the national federation (AFI) will pick the probables for the 4x100m relay squad for the 2026 Asian Games based on the performances of the four-day meet.

Odisha sprinter Animesh Kujur, the national record holder in both the 100m and 200m, will, however, skip the meet as he took part in the recent World Championships in Tokyo.

"Probables in 100m in men and women group will be shortlisted for the national 4x100m relay squad in preparation for the 2026 Asian Games," said chief national athletics coach Radhakrishnan Nair. In addition to the top six to be picked during the championships, the AFI will add two more athletes in the 4x100m relay group based on the overall performance in 2025, said Nair. "Top sprinters will be under one umbrella to prepare for the 2026 Asian Games," Nair said. "The men's team will be based in Mumbai while the women's team will be in Trivandrum." The Asiad will be held from September 19 to October 14 in Japan next year.

Villa earn first victory to launch Europa bid

AGENCIES @ Birmingham

ASTON Villa ended their winless run by beating Bologna 1-0 to open their Europa League campaign, while Rangers manager Russell Martin's job was placed into peril by a 1-0 home defeat to Genk on Thursday.

Despite failing to win any of their first five Premier League games, Villa had been installed as pre-tournament favourites for the Europa League.

The English side reached the quarter-finals of the Champions League last season, losing narrowly to eventual winners Paris Saint Germain, and in Unai Emery have a manager who has won the Europa League four times during spells at Sevilla and Villarreal. A feeling all is not well in the Villa camp was evidenced by Emery labelling his players "lazy" after failing to beat 10-man Sunderland on Sunday, while sporting director Monchi left the club this week.

However, they did enough to get the better of the Coppa Italia winners thanks to captain John McGinn's early strike.

Comeback win for Barca

OVIEDO: Headers from Robert Lewandowski and Ronald Araujo helped Barcelona make a 3-1 comeback victory at minnows Real Oviedo on Thursday in La Liga. The Catalans, who fell behind after a mistake from goalkeeper Joan Garcia allowed Alberto Reina to score the opener from 40 yards out, levelled through Eric Garcia early in the second half.

ISSF Jr WC: Teenager Jonathan captures gold

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

TEENAGER Jonathan Gavin had a significant outing on Friday. The pistol shooter highlighted his precision skills to capture gold in the ongoing ISSF Junior World Cup at the Dr Karni Singh Shooting Range in New Delhi.

The 16-year-old from Bengaluru, who has been training under the guidance of former ace Jitu Rai, was a cut above the rest during the men's 10m air pistol junior final on the day as he led from start to finish to capture the yellow metal. If he hadn't had a couple of blips, he could have overtaken the junior world record too. He eventually ended with an impressive tally of 244.8, falling short of the WR mark of 246.3, set by Saurabh Chaudhary in 2019. Italy's Luca Arrighi claimed silver while Spain's Lucas Sanchez was the other shooter on the podium. Chirag Sharma, the other Indian shooter in the final, finished eighth.

In the women's equivalent, Rashmika Sahgal was the standout from India's perspective as she clinched silver, finishing behind Evelina Sheina (Individual Neutral Athlete). Itan's Fatemeh Shekari won bronze.

PURE INHERENT LOVE CAN BRIDGE ALL DIFFERENCES

72 Years of Pure Love & Light

On this special day, as Mata Amritanandamayi—affectionately known to millions around the world simply as Amma—celebrates her 72nd birthday, we find ourselves reflecting on a life that has been nothing short of extraordinary. Revered as the "hugging saint," Amma's embrace has become a symbol of unconditional love and compassion, reaching across boundaries of culture, language, and faith. From humble beginnings in a small fishing village in Kerala, she has built a global humanitarian movement that continues to uplift communities through education, healthcare, disaster relief, women's empowerment, and spiritual guidance. In an era shaped by conflict, climate instability, and a renewed search for meaning, Amma's initiatives—ranging from international disaster relief to pioneering educational and healthcare programmes—reflect her unshakeable commitment to the welfare of all, regardless of belief or identity. Her philosophy of "embracing the world" is not just symbolic, but an active response to the challenges and diversity of the present moment. In this exclusive conversation with TNIE, Amma shares her thoughts on love, service, the shared responsibilities of humanity, and the deeper meaning of existence. As the world stands at a crossroads with challenges both material and spiritual, Amma's wisdom offers a gentle reminder of the strength that lies in compassion and the unity that binds all.

Amma, your life has been a testament to the ideal of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam—the world as one family. How do you foster the feeling of unity in diversity among millions, and what steps do you believe are most effective in bridging divides?

The deep feeling of love alone can bring people's hearts together. Despite all manmade divisions, everyone has a crying child inside—a child longing for pure love. Even after leaving the mother's womb, regardless of age, nationality, language, religious beliefs, or culture, we still carry that desperate and helpless child within us. Love is an innate quality present in all living beings. The physical expressions of love are just a tiny fraction of the immense wellspring of love within us. Love exists on multiple levels, like the rungs of a ladder. Even the love fuelled by selfish motives, which we see in the world, shouldn't be dismissed. The key is to avoid getting stuck at that level. Keep ascending and don't stop until you've reached love's highest peak. As your inherent love becomes more purified, it assumes a transcendental nature. Only this kind of love will serve as a bridge to connect all differences.

Many people struggle to move beyond the "us versus them" mindset. What everyday practices do you recommend for building genuine connection, regardless of background?

There are no quick-fix solutions. People's minds are so conditioned that breaking free requires determination rooted in compassion. Each person has a self-created image of themselves, and their ego feels hurt when others don't appreciate or acknowledge that image. The fundamental problem is the ego. This is an age where ego rules the world.

The universe and life are one. They form a totality. All divisions are humanmade. It's like a game of chess. There is a king, a queen, pawns, and so on. Who created this? It is merely our imagination—not reality. It's okay to imagine for entertainment and competition, but such manmade rules aren't the same as the ones of the universe. The universe believes in unity and oneness. We are tiny versions of the universe and nature. What exists outside is also within us. Unless we recognise this oneness and align ourselves with nature and live by it, the feeling of a "genuine connection" will remain out of reach.

Through AYUDH, your youth movement, you have inspired countless young people around the world to serve with compassion. What unique strengths do you see in today's youth, and how do you help them channel their energy into selfless action?

Today's youth are intelligent and technologically savvy. However, they lack emotional maturity and proper discernment. We need to create the necessary conditions for them to imbibe dharmic principles from a very young age. This will enhance their inner potential and help them become saviours of the future world, which is filled with uncertainties. This is the purpose of AYUDH. The youth who are part of the global AYUDH movement take delight in the joy of selfless service and have become a significant force.

We only need to create the right atmosphere and conditions for our youth to promote their self-unfoldment. They should feel inspired. The joy of selfless service creates that magic. Once they experience the bliss of selfless service, it stays with them. To experience it becomes like an addiction. However, unlike bad habits, the inner happiness they gain from selfless actions leads to a change in their attitude. They feel uplifted, which helps them overcome their weaknesses, thereby improving their understanding and strengthening them mentally, emotionally, intellectually, and spiritually.

Amrita institutions have become beacons of excellence across education, research, and humanitarian outreach. As their guiding light, what blend of scientific pursuit and spiritual wisdom do you believe ensures both innovation and compassion at the core of these world-class centres, and how do you ensure scientific progress is always rooted in empathy?

Everything we do should be rooted in spirituality. This is what Sanatana Dharma and the ancient rishis have taught us. Our nation, Bharat, with its incredibly rich cultural heritage—more extensive than any other country's—has its own unique identity and place in the world. Our country achieved maximum material growth, preyas, when our developmental policies were rooted in sreyas—a spiritual outlook aimed at the ultimate good. The rishis thoroughly explored both the inner and outer world. Their self-inquiry, "Who am I?", led to the realisation that consciousness is the fundamental essence of everything. At the same time, the rishis were brilliant scientists. Among them there were brilliant mathematicians, astronomers, experts in medicine and surgery, economists, proponents of atomic theory, alchemists and more. The point is, the heart of Bharat is spirituality. Its atmosphere and every grain of its sand are imbued with the vibrations of our rishis. As such, if we stray from the path shown by the rishis, we will lose the heart and soul of our nation. So, I have told all the researchers at Amrita that their goal should be "Compassion Driven Research." Whatever they do should be aimed at benefitting society, especially the less fortunate. This is the spirit with which everyone works.

> The universe believes in unity and oneness. We are tiny versions of the universe and nature. Unless we recognise this oneness and align ourselves with nature and live by it, the feeling of a genuine connection will remain out of reach
> — Amma

From environmental initiatives to disaster relief across continents, your organisations respond quickly to crises. What drives such scale and speed, and how do you foster volunteerism as the core of your global movement?

For me, compassion is most important. When you're grounded in unwavering compassion, the ways to achieve your goals will naturally appear. This has been my experience all along. Love and compassion are the same. When your heart is filled with love, it manifests as compassionate actions. True love and compassion inspire and effortlessly transform others. The first and last step of spirituality and life is compassion.

Are there practices readers can adopt to introduce more compassion into their communities?

Compassion cannot be taught. It can be practiced, but the prerequisite is an inner desire to serve others selflessly. The scriptures describe this as nishkama karma—selfless action.

Just as every place in the world has a structure, the universe also operates based on an unchanging framework. It's easy to dismiss and ignore this because the universe's laws are subtle. They are not directly visible like human-made rules. However, by observing the world, nature and the solar system, you can see the presence of an all-pervasive harmony, rhythm, and coexistence. This serves as clear evidence of this subtle structure.

Observation is not just intellectual analysis. It should be meditative. It involves your whole heart. This means adopting a humble, loving, and reverential attitude, which will reveal the essential oneness behind this diverse universe. Once this occurs, you will experience an inner expansion that allows you to accept and respect others. Harmful thoughts will have no home in you because everyone has become part of you, not separate. When this transformation happens, you can only be compassionate toward others.

Reflecting on decades of service and as you celebrate another year, what message of hope and compassion would you like to share with the younger generation facing new challenges?

Practice self-control; otherwise, disaster awaits humanity. There is a section in the Srimad Bhagavatam called the "Kali Yuga Varnanam", which presents life in this materialistic age. It offers an in-depth description of today's world. The conversations in it unfolded thousands of years ago, but you will be surprised to see that everything mentioned there is happening now.

Despite our incredible advancements in science and technology, there is a clear decline in values and virtues worldwide, especially among today's youth. Despite their talents and abilities, they neglect their elders, even look down upon them. They feel no remorse for their mistakes, and they lack discernment. Their understanding of love and life is very superficial. Our youth place more faith in machines than in humans. They disrespect and mock God—the supreme power that pervades and transcends this universe.

A certain degree of fear is beneficial to foster alertness and respect. This is completely lacking in our youth. Even as they indulge in various pleasures, including drugs, they still feel unfulfilled. As this feeling deepens, they become even more dependent on intoxicants. This trend is on the rise. If not addressed, it will spell disaster. However, it is unfair to blame only the youth for this; parents share equal responsibility. This is because it is they who failed to instill the right values in their children when they were still impressionable. You can't expect your children to be loving and caring if you don't set a good example.

The condition of elderly people and parents around the world is heartbreaking. They have wealthy children, but they remain sad and lonely, almost abandoned. Why? Because their children fail to fulfill their duties to them. Their children are not available when they need them. The elderly parents may have been given a lovely apartment, but they—who raised their children with so much hope—are almost imprisoned within its walls.

So, my warning to parents is this: Providing your children with a good education isn't enough. You also need to teach them the fundamental dharmic values they should live by. If you don't, they will suffer, and your suffering will be even greater.

Bibi: Israel 'must finish the job' against Hamas in Gaza

Amid shouts, rare open dissent, Israel PM Benjamin Netanyahu accuses opponents as those who have emboldened terrorism in region

UNITED NATIONS

ENCIRCLED by critics and protesters at the United Nations, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu told fellow world leaders on Friday that his nation "must finish the job" against Hamas in Gaza, giving a defiant speech despite growing international isolation over his refusal to end the devastating war. "Western leaders may have buckled under the pressure," he said. "And I guarantee you one thing: Israel won't."

He spoke after dozens of delegates from multiple nations walked out of the UN General Assembly hall en masse on Friday as he began.

Responding to countries' recent decisions to recognise Palestinian statehood, Netanyahu said: "Your disgraceful decision will encourage terrorism against Jews and against innocent people everywhere."

As the Israeli leader spoke, unintelligible shouts echoed around the hall. Applause rang out in other quarters as he spoke. The US delegation, which has backed Netanyahu in his campaign against Hamas, stayed put. The few world powers in attendance, the United States and the United Kingdom, did not send their most senior officials or even their UN ambassador to their section. Instead, it was filled out with more junior, low-level diplomats.

"Anti-semitism dies hard. In fact, it doesn't die at all," Netanyahu said. Netanyahu routinely accuses his critics of antisemitism. Netanyahu faces international isolation, accusations of war crimes and growing pressure to end a conflict he has continued to escalate. Friday's speech was his chance to push back on the international community's biggest platform.

As he has often in the past at the United Nations, Netanyahu held up a visual aid — a map of the region titled "The curse." He marked it up with a large marker. He ascended the podium wearing a special hostages pin with a QR code that leads to a site about October 7 that was established specially for international public diplomacy needs. The members of the prime minister's delegation, ministers and those accompanying him also wore identical pins. Netanyahu also frequently praised President Donald Trump, his chief ally in his political and military approach in the region.

Netanyahu said the changes across the Mideast have created new opportunities. He said Israel has begun negotiations with Syria aimed at reaching security arrangements with the country's new government. Back in the Mideast, the Israeli government was taking steps to ensure that those in Gaza and others heard what he had to say. The military set up loudspeakers at the Israel-Gaza border to blast his words into the territory. And in an "unprecedented operation," the prime minister's office said the Israeli army would take over the mobile phones of Gaza residents and Hamas operatives and his speech would be broadcast live through the mobile devices. It was not immediately clear if that happened, or to what extent. AP

Kids among 9 killed in Israeli strikes on Sanaa

ADEN: Yemen's Houthi rebels said Friday that at least nine people were killed by Israeli strikes on the country's rebel-held capital of Sanaa the previous day, the latest in an increase in exchanges between Israel and the Iranian-backed rebels over the war in Gaza. The strikes on Thursday afternoon came a day after a drone launched by the Houthis wounded 22 people in the southern Israeli city of Eilat, a rare breach of Israel's air defenses.According to the health ministry in the Houthi-controlled northern half of Yemen, which includes Sanaa, four children, two women and three older people were among the dead. Rebel officials also said 59 children, 35 women and 80 older people were among the wounded.

UN NAMES 68 FIRMS LINKED TO WEST BANK SETTLEMENTS

GENEVA

THE United Nations has added nearly 70 more companies to a blacklist of firms from 11 countries that it says are complicit in violating Palestinian human rights through their business ties to Israeli settlements in the occupied West Bank.

The new list spotlights companies that do business that's deemed supportive of the settlements, which are considered by many to be illegal under international law. It includes an array of companies like vendors of construction materials and earthmovers, as well as providers of security, travel and financial services."Businesses working in contexts of conflict have a due diligence responsibility to ensure their activities do not contribute to human rights abuses," said Ravina Shamdasani, spokesperson of the UN human rights office.

"We call on businesses to take appropriate action to address the adverse human rights impacts of their activities." The list, formally known as a "database of companies," now contains 158 companies — the vast majority Israeli. The others are from the United States, Canada, China, Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The UN office said it had advised the companies of their listing and given them a right of reply.

The blacklist was born of a vote by the UN's Human Rights Council, which has no legal authority or ability to force companies to act. Its main goal is to name and shame businesses with ties to the settlements. It is not clear what impact inclusion on the blacklist has had on companies' bottom lines. Newcomers to the list include German building-materials company Heidelberg Materials, Portuguese rail systems provider Steconfer, and Spanish transportation engineering firm Ineco. Among those still on the list are travel-sector companies US-based Expedia Group, Booking Holdings Inc and Airbnb, Inc.

While 68 new companies were added Friday, seven were taken off. A total of 215 business enterprises were assessed in this round, but hundreds more could get a look in the future. AP

BRATISLAVA: Slovakia's parliament approved a constitutional amendment recognising only two sexes, male and female, and limiting adoption to married couples. Backed by Prime Minister Robert Fico's government, it also emphasises national sovereignty in cultural matters. Critics, including Amnesty International and the Council of Europe.

UK to make digital ID must for work, hails Aadhaar model

LONDON

BRITISH Prime Minister Keir Starmer on Friday unveiled plans to roll out a mandatory free-of-charge digital ID scheme to crack down on illegal working, stressing that anyone without such a document would not be able to find employment in the UK. The scheme will be available to all citizens and legal residents of the UK, with the government claiming it will save time by ending the need for complicated identity checks, which often rely on copies of paper records.

In referencing global benchmarks of similar schemes, Downing Street pointed to India, where it noted how the Aadhaar cards have helped the government save "around 10 billion dollars annually by reducing fraud and leakages in welfare schemes".

"This government will make a new, free-of-charge digital ID mandatory for the right to work before the end of this Parliament," Starmer said, in an address at the Global Progress Action Summit in London.The new ID documents, expected by 2029, will be stored on smartphones, similar to the UK's NHS app and contactless payments.

"You will not be allowed to work in the United Kingdom if you do not have digital ID. It's as simple as that," said Starmer. Starmer acknowledged Labour had been 'squeamish' on immigration while taking a tough stance against illegal migration and far-right groups like Reform UK.

HERE'S A LOOK AT HAPPENINGS IN 'LURU

PG 2

Actor-standup comedian Abishek Kumar's latest show in ooru brings laughter depicting the life of a middle-class boy, drawing from personal anecdotes and funny observations

ANJALI RAM

WHAT happens when a middle-class boy with a theatre degree, a flair for drama and a knack for impersonations decides he just wants to enjoy life? Comedian-actor Abishek Kumar's latest stand-up show, 'Abishek Wants To Enjoy Life', is the answer.

A mix of personal stories and unfiltered fun that gives audiences exactly what they need amidst the chaos: a burst of laughter. "I want people to forget all the negativity for that one to one-and-a-half hours. If my show can do that, I believe I've done my job," Kumar says with a smile.

His journey into comedy was anything but typical. A full-time theatre actor after college, his first stint came by when a comedian dropped out of a show and Kumar was asked to step in – for a 20-minute set, no less. "I was thrown into the deep end because the producer had blind faith in me, but it worked. That show gave me the confidence that I could hold an audience on my own," he shares.

His latest comedy special reflects on his upbringing. "The tour is based on a chronological journey – from school to college to now, including my relationship with my parents," he adds.

Growing up in a middle-class household has been a rich source of material for Kumar. "In a house like ours, there's no shortage of content," he laughs. But the show, he insists, is not just a list of grievances dressed up as jokes. "There's always some random relative stirring the pot, that's where the humour lies. When you talk about the embarrassing moments and the heartbreaks, that's when people really laugh and connect," Kumar adds.

More than writing, he believes his forte is performing and improvising on the spot. However, 'Abishek Wants to Enjoy Life' marks a return to completely written and tested content. While comedy gives him joy, Kumar admits it comes with its share of challenges and creative blocks. But what keeps him going? He highlights consistency, resilience and belief in one's voice. "You have to be your harshest critic and biggest supporter," he notes.

He stresses how the fast-paced nature of digital content means comics must adapt their storytelling styles to suit the platform. "Writing for Instagram reels is different. You've got to hook people in 15 seconds online, but on stage, you can take your time."

Having entered the stand-up scene in late 2017, he has also been a part of several on-screen projects, with Amazon Prime Video's Thalaivettiyaan Paalayam (remake of OTT hit Panchayat) being the latest. As an actor, he chooses not to be boxed into just doing funny roles. He says the biggest misconception about comedians is that they are always funny offstage. "We're mostly thinking about food or wondering why a brand hasn't paid us yet," he laughs.

(Catch Abishek Kumar live on September 28, 3pm onwards at Prestige Centre for Performing Arts, Konanakunte. Tickets from ₹499 onwards. For details, visit bookmyshow.com)

Tech Fest Blends Innovation With Social Purpose

Gateways 2025, a national-level technical festival organised by the Department of Computer Science at CHRIST (Deemed to be University), commenced on Thursday at the university's Central Campus, with a strong message on aligning technological innovation with social purpose.

Inaugurating the two-day event, Guruprasad S, Vice President at Bosch, commended the university's commitment to nurturing the next generation of technology leaders. He encouraged students to view technology not merely as a tool for innovation, but as a force for meaningful societal impact, resonating with the university's ethos of excellence and service.

Organised by postgraduate students from the MCA and MSc AIML programmes, Gateways has long established itself as a leading platform for showcasing emerging talent in computer science and related disciplines. The 28th edition, themed "Neon Nexus", embraced a cyberpunk aesthetic, creating an immersive and futuristic environment. Over 500 students representing more than 100 institutions from across India and overseas took part in this year's fest.

A diverse array of competitions featured in the programme, ranging from IT quizzes and coding challenges to photography contests and UI/UX design events. The highlight of the festival was a 24-hour hackathon, which attracted 86 teams from six countries, each tasked with developing technological solutions to contemporary social challenges, such as digital wellbeing, financial inclusion, sustainability, and child protection.

With more than 1,200 students contributing to the organisation and execution of the event, Gateways 2025 reaffirmed its dual legacy: enhancing technical competencies while directing them towards the greater public good.

New Jersey Governor Explores Academic Partnership with CHRIST (Deemed to be) University

Philip Murphy, Governor of New Jersey, along with First Lady Tammy Snyder Murphy, visited CHRIST (Deemed to be) University in Bengaluru today to explore potential academic collaborations. The high-level delegation from New Jersey included prominent figures from academia, business, and government, notably Samip Joshi, Mayor of Edison, and the First Lady of Edison. Senior representatives from New Jersey Institute of Technology, Rutgers University, and Montclair State University also participated in the discussions, seeking to initiate joint academic ventures.

The visit began with a formal meeting focused on forging academic ties between CHRIST University and institutions in the State of New Jersey. This was followed by a cultural performance by the university's dance ensemble, offering a warm and vibrant welcome to the international guests.

In his welcome address, Rev. Dr Fr Jose CC, Vice-Chancellor of CHRIST (Deemed to be) University, reflected on the shared values of learning and collaboration. "The pursuit of knowledge acts as a bridge, uniting like-minded individuals across continents," he said. "Collaboration drives scholarship, fosters innovation, and builds enduring connections. We remain committed to advancing the noble cause of education through meaningful partnerships."

FITBIT

YOUR GUIDE TO SMARTER EATING IN THE INDIAN KITCHEN

Staying fit often seems harder than it actually is, especially when it comes to food. Many people assume that eating healthy requires eliminating favourites like sweets, fried foods or maida altogether. The truth is, with the right balance and a few smart tweaks, you can enjoy what you love while still making better choices for your health. Here are some simple hacks that can help you get started.

WATCH YOUR FRUCTOSE INTAKE:
Fruits are healthy, but overripe fruits like banana and mango can be loaded with fructose which can increase blood sugar levels. Similarly, fruit juices deliver a quick sugar hit without fibre. Instead, eat whole fruits in moderation, they're more filling and provide fibre that slows sugar absorption.

UNDERSTAND HOW STARCH WORKS:
Not all carbs are equal. Refined options like white bread, pasta and packaged cereals spike blood sugar quickly. On the other hand, resistant starches such as oats, legumes, nuts are digested more slowly, feeding good gut bacteria and supporting long-term health. Choosing whole grains and unprocessed carbs is a healthier swap.

EAT JUST ENOUGH:
It's not just what you eat, but how much. Eating until you feel stuffed strains your digestive system and makes you sluggish. Aim to feel satisfied, not heavy. Keeping portion sizes in check and knowing your daily calorie needs helps maintain energy levels, productivity and a steady weight. Remember the 20 minutes rule, as it takes 20 minutes for the body to signal the barin that it's full.

DON'T MISS OUT ON PROTEIN:
For vegetarians and vegans, protein can often fall short. Dal alone may not suffice. Paneer, tofu, lentils, soy products and nuts are excellent additions to ensure you're meeting your body's protein needs. Skipping this can lead to deficiencies and slow recovery after exercise.

DID YOU KNOW?
Jaggery and honey are often seen as "healthier" than sugar, but nutritionally and calorie wise they are still mostly sugar and should be eaten sparingly.

FOCUS ON CARBS, NOT FATS:
Fats like ghee have long been misunderstood. In moderation, they can actually slow sugar spikes in the bloodstream. The real concern is excess refined carbs. A balanced meal that includes good fats, proteins and complex carbs supports steady energy and better metabolic health.

USE KITCHEN TOOLS WISELY: Modern appliances such as air fryers make it easier to cook lighter versions of fried snacks. Freshly grinding spices at home instead of relying on long-stored powders also boosts flavour and nutrition. These small habits help cut back on processed food.

KNOW WHERE YOUR FOOD COMES FROM:
A simple rule of thumb: the closer a food is to its natural form, the better. Minimally processed options like fresh vegetables, pulses and whole grains should form the bulk of your meals, while packaged foods should be occasional.

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

I had a couple of friends who were down from the glorious US of A and Canada and I saw reverse migration from up close. The older ones were quite gung-ho to embrace their roots, while their children were apprehensive. They were not too convinced about moving base (even though they got their dental-work and a battery of health tests done at quarter the price). But, they could sing the American national anthem and 'God save the king' more fluently than 'Jana Gana Mana'! The 'migrated flock' love our food, excellent and much cheaper medical services, our clothes (all couture because we have 'tailors') but that's it. Sometimes I feel a wave of empathy. The older ones left to pursue a better life and their young have a jaundiced view of India through their parent's rendition and generally, everyone is confused!

Nidhi & Reuben Kataria with Raghava KK

As I grow older and wiser, I am compelled not to bite at the bits and turn everything into a full blown argument. I am a deeply loyal and committed person and I am ready to enjoy both... my country's drawbacks and many of its advantages and benefits. I always stand with pride when my national anthem is played, I take a stand for what I think is wrong and I too, 'bang thalis' (albeit slyly) in appreciation!

One can 'Michelin star' the heck out of any cuisines, but east or west, Indian food is the best! Indian food isn't just 'curry and rotti' as the West would like to believe. It is complex with spices, flavours and textures that change from the North to the South and the East to the West. Being a peninsula and surrounded by sea on three sides, we had our share of 'invaders' and 'guests' (who were invaders who outstayed their welcome) and everyone left their influences on our wonderful land. Be it spices, vegetables, styles of cooking or their culture and craft.

Kunal Chauhan, Uma Singh, Geramin L, Ramneek & Harvant Singh and Digvijay Singh

Punjab and the N.W. Frontier have always had an extremely robust style of cooking. Local tandoors and spit-fire cooking was a norm as was the slow-cooking techniques.

I was extremely fortunate to have tried a spate of highly experienced chefs (one that even earned his restaurant a Michelin star!). Chef Rohit Ghai was invited to The Ritz-Carlton to be a mentor for their new progressive Indian restaurant Zarqash meaning 'richly adorned with gold'. The exclusive (sneak-peek) preview was straight out of the history books.

The food was richly adorned with stories and anecdotes and was bereft of the usual rich cream and ghee that passes off as North-Indian food. The array of dishes was different, subtle in their flavours and very global in their presentation. Looking forward to going back and enjoying the dishes I missed!

I am favoured by the victuals-Gods this week. Chef Ramneek Singh dropped in to the new Punjabi/Indian restaurant, the Indian Durbar at The Conrad Bengaluru. What can one say about a perfect dining experience, rich with the laughter of friends, scrumptious on the palate, (home-style and excellent), superlative story-telling explaining the antecedents of every dish, freshly churned lassi and bon-homie that is the speciality of the Punjab region! The Sikh chefs were brimming with joy at the raucous banter and I looked around the table and acknowledged my blessings.

Our destiny is created not by the shoes we wear but the steps we take!

Manoj headlines Garden, a tale of B'luru's civic heroes

The film also stars Anu Prema and Sonam Rai, with shooting set to officially begin in November

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Manoj is stepping into gritty territory with his third film, Garden, which was launched with a grand muhurat in Bengaluru. Directed by Arya Mahesh, the drama explores the city's shadowy garbage mafia while spotlighting the lives of pourakarmikas, the civic workers who keep Bengaluru running but rarely receive recognition. Garden aims to give a voice to Bengaluru's unsung heroes while pulling audiences into the underbelly of the city's garbage economy

Sonam Rai

The first-look poster made its intentions clear. Instead of a hero reveal, it showed clenched fists and the imposing BBMP building, setting the stage for a politically charged narrative. Dinakar Thoogudeepa, who was the guest for this event, praised the team, calling Manoj "our own boy with cinema in his veins" and applauding Mahesh for tailoring a role that carries both weight and mass appeal. "Post-COVID, audiences demand stories that are real and rooted. Garden packs that emotional punch," he noted.

Mahesh, known for his work on Kolara, revealed that Manoj will play a pourakarmika, nicknamed "Garden Siva." "Civic workers wake before sunrise, braving cold, heat, and rain to take on the waste we leave behind. Without them, cities would collapse. That invisible struggle is what we're capturing," explained Mahesh. Known for rooted storytelling, Mahesh said the film's title is inspired by Bengaluru's dumping yards, often ironically called "gardens." "Our story unfolds around waste management and the lives tied to it. If we call it garbage, it sounds negative. But for many, the dump is where they find work and dignity. Garbage, too, can be a garden," said the filmmaker.

The director further added that Manoj's role will be given a mass touch, with the character introduced through the sounds of whistling and daybreak. The makers are planning background-driven songs alongside a dance number with the lead actor, with shooting slated to begin in November.

The film also features Mysuru-based Anu Prema, who has acted in Hacche, and Shivamogga's Sonam Rai, making the leap from television serials to the big screen.

Garden is the maiden production venture of G Muniraju's MR Cinemas banner, who earlier co-produced Mahesh's Bamboo Savari. The technical crew includes cinematographer Munjane Manju, stunt director Violent Velu, choreographer Tagaru Raju, editor G Girish Kumar, and music composer AM Neel.

Raj B Shetty to direct a suspense thriller

Post Su From So, produced under his banner, the filmmaker has devoted himself fully to the writing process

A SHARADHAA

FOLLOWING the tremendous success of Su From So, produced by Raj B Shetty's Light Buddha Films, which earned over Rs 100 crore worldwide, the filmmaker is preparing for his next directorial venture. This time, he will helm a suspense thriller for the first time, and it will be made in Kannada. True to his reputation for blending engaging stories with fresh storytelling, Raj has completely dedicated himself to the writing process, ensuring every plot twist is meticulously crafted.

Sources close to the filmmaker indicate that Raj plans to begin shooting in January or February 2026. While he will take on the lead role, he is on the lookout for other actors to play key roles. Known for adding depth and nuance to his projects, Raj has had an impressive directorial journey. His films range from the debut charm of Ondhu Motteya Kathe to the cult success of Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana, as well as the critically acclaimed Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye. Each film highlights his evolving storytelling style, seamlessly blending relatable human emotions.

Su From So confirmed Raj's status as a reliable producer, earning him both critical and commercial success. Meanwhile, he is also set to appear in 45, a high-profile project directed by Arjun Janya and produced by Ramesh Reddy, where he will share the screen with Kannada superstars Shivarajkumar and Upendra. Additionally, he has another acting venture in the works, with the official announcement expected soon.

Lucy Liu to lead Peacock crime drama Superfakes

CE FEATURES

LUCY Liu has signed on to headline and executive produce Superfakes, a new crime drama in development at Peacock.

The series, which was ordered by the streamer in January, comes from creator Alice Ju (Beef), with A24 and Universal Studio Group's UCP producing. Ju, who previously wrote and produced on Peacock's Poker Face and collaborated with A24 on Netflix's Beef, will serve as showrunner.

According to the logline, Liu will portray a "small-time Chinatown luxury counterfeit dealer" who gets pulled into a much larger black market operation while trying to secure a better future for her family.

Behind the camera, Josh and Benny Safdie are on board as executive producers alongside Liu, Ju, Howard Klein and Olivia Gerke of 3 Arts, Ronald Bronstein, and Eli Bush.

Liu, a two-time Emmy nominee, is currently in production on The Devil Wears Prada 2. She also stars in and produced the forthcoming feature Rosemead. Her recent credits include Prime Video's holiday action-comedy Red One, Netflix's limited series A Man in Full, and voice work on the streamer's animated series Jentry Chau vs. the Underworld.

Josh Brolin on board action comedy Mister

CE FEATURES

JOSH Brolin will join the cast of the action comedy, Mister. Brolin was recently seen alongside Julia Garner, in Zach Cregger's Weapons.

Mister is the directorial debut of Wade Eastwood, who previously served as an action choreographer on Mission: Impossible - The Final Reckoning and Jumanji - The Next Level. Eastwood directs the film from a script by Nick Inglis and Nicki Cortese. Brolin will serve as a producer on Mister, through his namesake banner, Brolin Productions. Cortese is also serving as a producer along with Erica Lee, Basil Iwanyk, and Wayne Marc Godfrey. Thunder Road and Bright White Light are also backing the film.

The story of the film centres around a man who wakes up, in a house he does not recognise, covered in blood. He has to escape his present with his daughter, with whom he has to repair his relationship, along with learning about himself.

Brolin will next be seen in Edgar Wright's The Running Man, which is an adaptation of Stephen King's novel of the same name. Glen Powell leads the cast of the film, which follows a man named Ben Richards (Powell), who joins a show, where the contestants, who are the top hitmen in the world, will have to chase and kill Ben, for an exorbitant amount of money. Brolin plays the role of Dan Killian, the show's producer. The Running Man is set to release theatrically in India on November 14.

Superman star Anthony Carrigan joins Spaceballs 2; film starts production

CE FEATURES

ANTHONY Carrigan, who was recently seen in Superman (2025), will join the cast of Spaceballs 2. George Wyner is also joining the cast of the film, which started production. Josh Greenbaum is serving as the director of the sequel of the 1987 film. He directs the film from a script by Benji Samit and Dan Hernandez. Greenbaum is also producing the film along with Ron Howard, Mel Brooks, Josh Gad, Brian Grazer, Jeb Brody, and Kevin Salter. Samil and Hernandez will serve as an executive producer along with Adam Merims. Imagine Entertainment and Amazon MGM Studios are backing the film.

The cast for the film includes Josh Gad, Mel Brooks, Rick Moranis, Bill Pullman, Daphne Zuniga, Keke Palmer, and Lewis Pullman. The film is expected to release in 2027.

Romance and suspense on a rural grid

A SHARADHAA

SIDDEGOWDA'S Kunte Bille, which means "hopscotch," is a rural suspense thriller that weaves together romance, mystery, and social critique. The film portrays love challenged by strict societal norms. It tells a story where affection conflicts with caste and destiny. While it strives to blend rural romance and thriller, the execution is uneven, much like the game it references, where one misstep can lead to a fall.

The narrative traces the childhood friendship between Chandana (MeghaShree) and Chamaraj (Yadu Balaji). Their bond grows naturally into love. This aspect is heartfelt, reflecting the rhythms of village life and the simple joys of growing up in Mysuru's countryside. The early scenes create a warm and immersive atmosphere.

The tone shifts abruptly when Chandana disappears on the eve of their wedding. The story transitions into a mystery, exploring character morality and testing audience patience. The thriller aspect, after her disappearance, has potential but often gets interrupted by sudden musical breaks and romantic distractions. This mirrors the unpredictable jumps of a hopscotch game, where focus and rhythm can easily falter.

The hopscotch metaphor works well. Life, like the game, requires balance, careful thought, and acceptance of setbacks. However, on screen, the concept feels underdeveloped. The attempts to mix romance, crime, and social commentary are only partly successful, resulting in a patchy narrative. Scenes alternate between nostalgic intimacy and thriller urgency, struggling to find a cohesive rhythm, like a player uncertain of the next square.

The performances are a strong point of the film. MeghaShree brings warmth and sincerity, grounding the emotional journey, while Yadu's earnestness enhances their chemistry. Veteran actors Suchendra Prasad, Shankar Ashwath, Bhavani Prakash, and Sudha Belawadi add authenticity and depth, though even strong performances cannot fully compensate for structural and tonal inconsistencies.

Despite its flaws, Kunte Bille shines at times. Its depiction of tender romance, moral challenges, and life's unpredictable twists feels genuine. The film's engagement with caste, societal barriers, and human resilience adds meaningful depth. The film may be uneven, like the game itself, but its conceptual ambition and strong performances make it a watchable experience for those willing to navigate its unpredictable hops.

Cast: Yadu Balaji, Meghashree, Suchendra Prasad, and Bhavani Prakash

XPRESS FOCUS SMD INITIATIVE

The Role of Storage-Driven Intelligence in Building the Smart Factory of the Future

Over the past few years, the world has made great strides in the area of smart manufacturing. Technologies that were once considered futuristic, like industrial internet of things (IIoT), cloud computing, edge computing, big data and analytics, are now standard tools for factories. Modern smart manufacturing boasts fully-integrated, collaborative manufacturing systems that promise to optimise production, minimise downtime, and enhance decision-making. This sector is also seeing rapid growth with the smart manufacturing market size in India, which was at USD 12.5B in 2024, expected to touch USD 20.5B by 2033.

Smart manufacturing systems rely heavily on data to make better-informed decisions and optimise production. They are equipped not only to collect data in real-time but also to analyse this data and respond in real-time. These systems are aided by analytics and artificial intelligence (AI) to anticipate patterns and trends, identify improvement areas, proactively schedule equipment maintenance and improve supply chain resilience. Moreover, smart machines generate terabytes of data, whether from quality control cameras or sensors.

This explosion in data has resulted in a corresponding uptick in the demand for fast, high-capacity, reliable, flexible, and affordable storage, designed to meet the needs of the AI era, both at the backend (cloud) and the edge.

Addressing latency with edge storage

Edge computing plays a critical role in smart manufacturing processes. Processing data closer to where it is generated allows manufacturers to reduce the latency created by sending data to the core for processing. Therefore, robust edge storage, storage like solid-state drives (SSDs), microSDTM cards and industrial-grade SD™ cards, which are designed to handle massive amounts of data generated via internet of things (IoT) sensors and allows for low-latency data sharing, plays a key role.

For instance, think of a precision manufacturing environment with extremely low margins of tolerance. Given that these systems require zero deviation from standard operating conditions, the system must be monitored in real-time, allowing for immediate corrective actions. Having computing and storage capabilities at the edge is critical to ensuring stable and error-free production.

By processing data at the edge, manufacturers can monitor production processes in real-time, identifying and addressing potential quality issues as they arise. Edge devices analyse this data instantaneously, providing operators with real-time dashboards and alerts. If a parameter deviates from its acceptable range, the system can trigger immediate corrective actions. This could mean adjusting machine settings or even halting the production line to correct any deviations. This level of responsiveness can ensure that quality standards are consistently met, reducing waste and rework. Localised, high-speed storage is essential to help process data at the edge - enabling faster decisions, reducing latency, and minimising downtime.

Robust backend storage for predictive maintenance

While edge computing and edge storage play a critical role in smart manufacturing processes, a robust backend is equally important. For example, sensor data, combined with advanced analytics and machine learning in the backend, enables predictive maintenance by continuously monitoring equipment health and performance data. These analytics can help predict when a component is likely to fail, thus allowing maintenance activities to be scheduled in time to prevent breakdowns. This predictive approach not only minimises unplanned downtime but also ensures that equipment operates within optimal parameters, thereby maintaining consistent quality throughout the production process. For such applications, storage technologies that relies on solid state drives (SSDs) can help achieve quick access to enterprise data and maximum throughput.

As smart factories continue to evolve, the time is right for manufacturers to think holistically about investing in the right infrastructure to build a future-ready smart factory.

Storage should not be seen only as a support layer but as a crucial enabler of product quality, agility and uptime. It supports real-time operations at edge, powers predictive intelligence at the back end and provides scalability to accommodate the growing data footprint of Industry 4.0.

Computing and storage infrastructure capable of supporting modern data-centric operations are key. Consequently, adopting a next-generation (edge and backend) storage strategy will provide a competitive advantage to those leading the way.
